

Accell Latest - Famadillo

Tweet

0

Accell makes power cords. That's what they do. I plug them in, that's what I do!

The Home or Away power station is to your left and is really good for travel. 600 Joules seems like quite a lot of protection but I'm more interested in the fact that it has two USB outlets as well as two regular plug outlets. For all of my daughter's gadgets I need at least this many.

The Power Squid is awesome. Basically the regular power strips stink because nothing can go next to each other. I actually have one where I literally can only use every other plug. It drives me absolutely nuts. This solves that.

Share this: