The 2 Electronic Accessories You Need for Your Dorm

SEPTEMBER 19, 2016 BY SHAUN · TOPICS: COLLEGE TECH

Let's face it – we live in a world where most of college students' possessions are electronic based. TV's, computers, speakers, mini-fridges, and more, are only a few on the list of essentials. The issue is that these items can be heavily damaged due to the fact that college dorms aren't really the most power-friendly places.

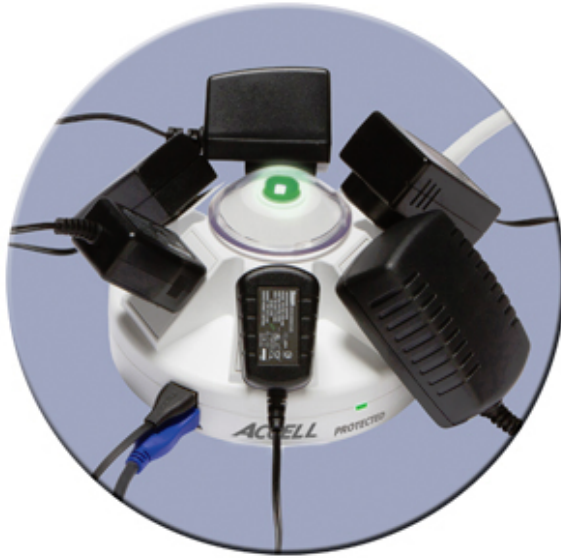

ACCELL has you covered with 2 products that will make your life far easier.

The Powramid Power Center and USB Charging Station is the Ideal Power Solution for home or office use. Its adapter friendly design is perfect for placement on top of a desk or a conference room table, providing easy access to multiple power outlets. The dual USB charging ports provide 2.1A charging for power hungry USB powered devices.

Typical surge protectors continue to supply power even after they no longer are providing surge protection, exposing connected devices to potential damage from a power surge. With its Power Stop technology, the Powramid automatically stops conducting power once the absorption has reached capacity.
