

Cable Management Kit

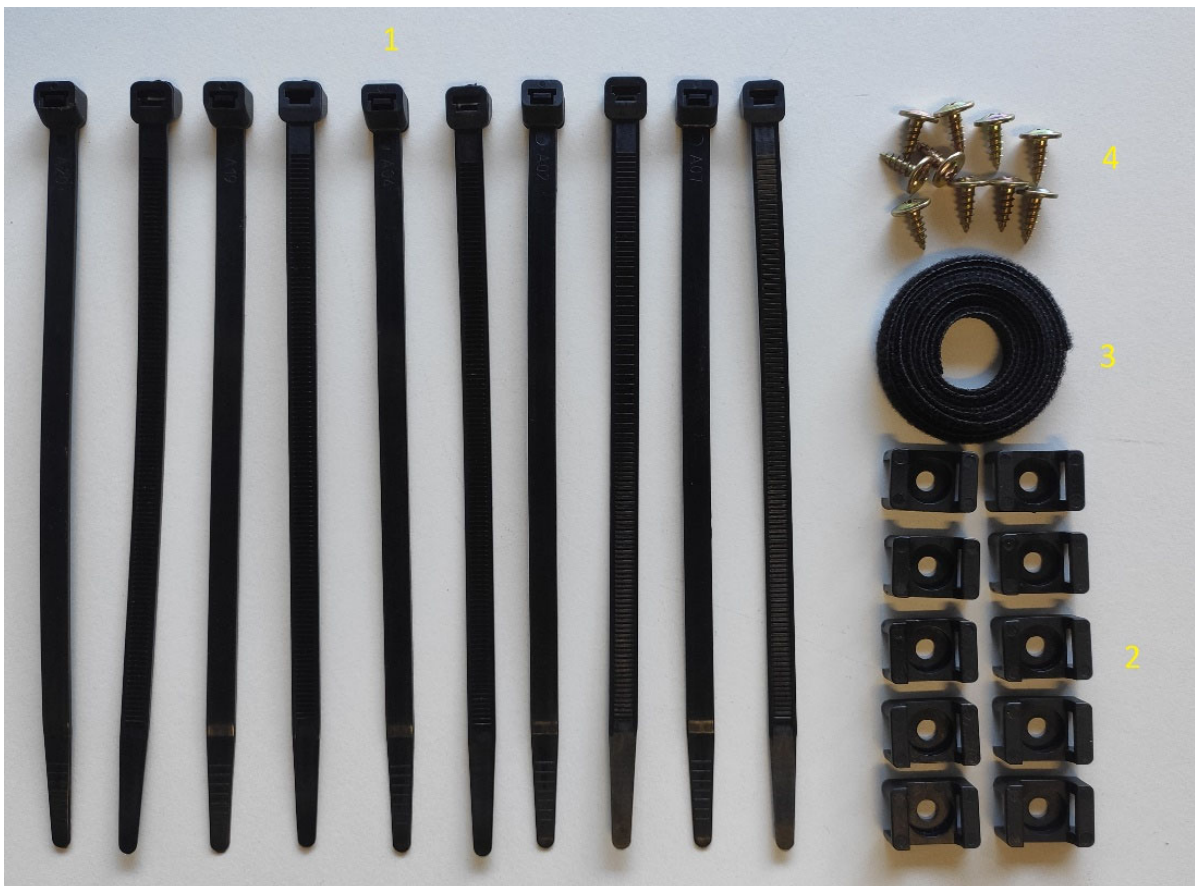

Cable management on an adjustable sit to stand desk can become particularly messy, as you need to make allowances for constant vertical adjustments. Unorganised cables can become tangled and potentially pull out of electrical devices causing damage. Aside from this, maintaining an organised work environment is proven to improve productivity and reduced stress.

We've designed this cable management kit based on customer feedback and to ensure longevity, for example we've used a screw on saddle solution rather than a stick-on method.

This kit will assist most users and most cable management applications. Most people will find they only require half the contents.

Enclosed in the Cable Management Kit, you will find the following contents:

1. 10 x 200mm x 7.6mm Black Cable Ties
2. 10 x Cable Tie Saddles
3. 100cm Loop Velcro
4. 10 x Self Tapping Screws

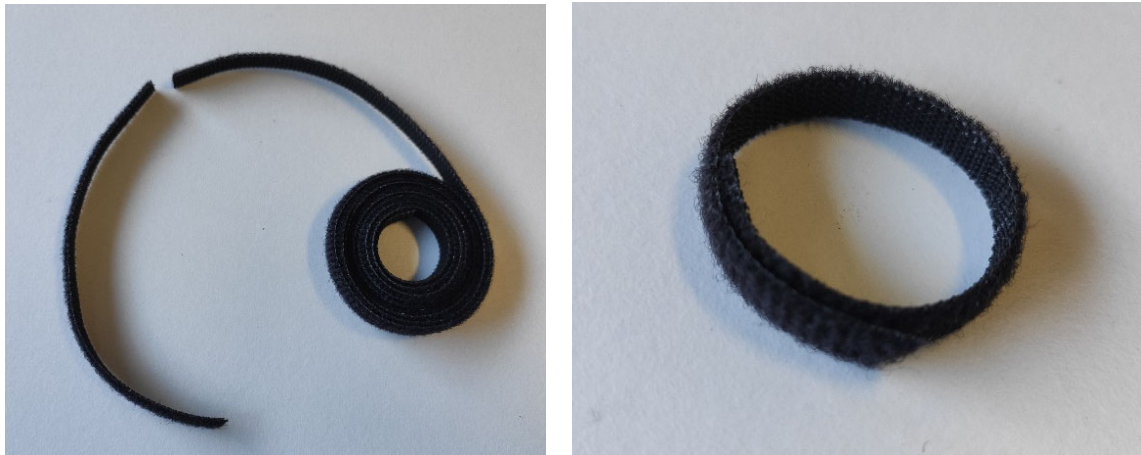

Installation of the cable management kit is entirely up to you. You can use as many or as little of the contents as you wish. You can also install the items wherever suits your requirement. No two setups are going to be the same.

The cable tie saddles can be attached the underside of your desk using the included self-tapping screws. You do not need a drill for this job, rather a Philips head screwdriver.

The loop Velcro is a reusable cable securing material. It is double sided Velcro and when looped on itself will securely stick. Using scissors, simply cut off the required length. You can either use the Velcro on its own to secure several cables to one another or pass it through the slots of the cable tie saddles to secure a cable(s) to the underside of the desk.

The cable ties are an optional way to secure cables to one another or a cable(s) to the underside of the desk. Attached them as shown below. The excess tag can be cut off with scissors.

Below are some examples of how you might install the cables using Velcro and cable ties.
