

PRACTICE

The image displays a series of 12 horizontal rows, each designed for handwriting practice. Each row is bounded by three horizontal lines: a top line, a middle line, and a bottom line. The rectangular area between the top and middle lines is filled with diagonal hatching lines that slope downwards from left to right. The area between the middle and bottom lines is left blank, providing space for writing practice. The rows are stacked vertically with consistent spacing between them.