ABOUT GIADZY

Founded by chef Giada De Laurentiis, Giadzy delivers authentic Italian experiences through recipes, stories, travel guides, and carefully sourced foods from producers across the country. With decades of experience inspiring Americans to live la dolce vita through her Emmy-winning cooking shows and New York Times bestselling cookbooks, Giada brings her knowledge and good taste directly into homes.

The De Laurentiis family story began at a small pasta factory in Naples, where Giada's grandfather, Dino, spent his childhood. Decades later, he shared his love of food with his granddaughter, who turned that passion into a celebrated career. Today, Giadzy is the next step in Giada's mission to transform how Americans understand Italian food and culture.

INTRODUCTION

One of the things that I love most about Italian cuisine is its pride. Every region of the country has its own specialties, from the fragrant lemons of the Amalfi coast to the flavorful hazelnuts that can only grow in Piemonte. While there's a lot more fantastic Italian food in the U.S. now than there was when I first came here as a child, so many of these local treasures remain inaccessible to anyone outside of Italy. That's what I set out to change when I launched Giadzy—not only to bring these foods into more homes, but to share the stories that make them special.

The producers we work with at Giadzy are small, family-owned companies, all guided by tradition. Many of them have been doing things the same way for five or six generations! They specialize in just a few items that are unique to their region, and they take pride in making those foods the best they can. You can taste the love and care that they put into it with every bite.

When I choose an Italian partner to create our Giadzy-exclusive products, it's because I know they are making the best of the best, from our gorgeous artisan pastas crafted in beautiful Abruzzo to celebration-worthy panettones made from a century-old recipe in Verona. They follow sustainable processes and use all-natural, local ingredients to honor the land where they are made. That's what Italian food means to me, and what I'm so honored to be able to share with you.

I hope you love these products as much as I do. Buon appetito!

PASTA

Giadzy Pasta is the result of years of careful taste-testing and research with master pasta makers from across Italy. To perfect our first in-house product line, Giada De Laurentiis and the Giadzy team zeroed in on what matters most in a pasta: taste, texture, and fun. By using the finest ingredients and working in partnership with skilled pasta artisans in Italy, we've created the pasta we've been looking for all our lives — and we can't wait to share it with you.

Giadzy Pasta is crafted in Abruzzo, a verdant gem on central Italy's east coast. Abruzzo has the highest concentration of national parkland in Europe, including the graceful peaks of the Majella mountains, home to golden eagles and stunning wildflowers. Pure spring water from the Majella range is combined with organically grown semolina wheat flour from the base of the mountains to make Giadzy Pasta sing with a sweet aroma of pure wheat. Following ancient artisan techniques, Giadzy Pasta is cut on 100-year-old bronze dies, giving the pasta a rough, rustic texture that soaks up sauce, making every meal exceptionally flavorful. After it's shaped, the pasta is slowly air-dried for up to 36 hours, protecting its delicate flavor and dense texture. The result: the perfect al dente bite every time.

GLUTEN-FREE PASTA

For a country that's as passionate about wheat products as Italy is (think pasta, pizza, biscotti, focaccia — the list goes on and on), it should come as no surprise that they're serious about making delicious gluten-free foods. The country has a much longer history of taking gluten intolerance seriously than the U.S., which means they've got a lot of experience with gluten-free alternatives.

Giadzy's gluten-free pasta is made with simple, natural ingredients in the Alpine peaks of northern Italy, where alternative grains are a way of life. It's made using the same artisan techniques and tools and it cooks up beautifully, with an al dente bite that compares to any wheat-based pasta out there. It's proof you don't have to give anything up when you cut out the gluten.

OLIVE OIL

There's nothing more valuable in the kitchen than a top-quality olive oil — that's why we wrapped our Giadzy extra virgin olive oil in gold! Light and fruity, it's made with native taggiasca olives in the Liguria region, known as the Italian Riviera. The olives are cold-pressed and their oil is left unfiltered to preserve its rich, aromatic flavor and all those good-for-you antioxidants that make olive oil a healthy powerhouse. Golden yellow in color, our olive oil has a delicate, sweet flavor with notes of ripe olives and almonds. The bottle is wrapped in gold foil to protect the delicate oil from oxidation, a fittingly luxurious package for such a stunning elixir.

Northern Liguria shares a border with France, where the taggiasca olive is known as a niçoise. The small, juicy taggiasca olive is beloved across the Riviera region both for eating and as a source of an oil of exceptional delicacy and aroma. They are harvested once they reach the dark blue-violet color of peak ripeness, resulting in a milder, less bitter oil than those made with unripe olives. Olives are such an important part of life in Liguria that their groves line the cliffs that overlook the Mediterranean, giving the coastline a romantic, silvery glow as you approach from the water. Ligurian olive oils are known to be elegant and well-balanced, without aggressively bitter or tannic notes. The region was the perfect place for us to source our very first in-house olive oil, a crowd-pleasing variety that sings of its unique Italian home.

GOLD-WRAPPED

SPICES

Take any meal to Italy in a snap with boldly flavored spices direct from some of the country's most dedicated artisans. These kitchen helpers will turn your pantry into a powerhouse of flavor, from fragrant dried herbs to decadent truffles and beyond.

Close your eyes and think of the fundamental flavors of your favorite Italian foods. Chances are, they're fragrant Mediterranean herbs like basil and oregano, pungent garlic, and the fruity, lingering heat of Calabrian chiles. These aromatic ingredients are absolutely essential to the Italian pantry, giving that special touch of la dolce vita to sauces, roasts, and more.

To capture these flavors in your own cooking, go straight to the source! We've partnered with the best producers of these herbs and spices and more in their home regions to bring them straight to your kitchen.

PASTA TOOLS

With the right tools, even the most impressive pasta project can be achieved in your home. Handcrafted tools have been used by Italian nonnas for centuries to make the loving labor of making fresh pasta for the family simpler and more enjoyable. They take all the guesswork out of forming and rolling traditional pasta shapes like rigatoni, garganelli, gnocchi, trofie, and so many more.

Starting with the right flour, Giada's fresh pasta dough recipe, and our artisan-made tools for forming, shaping, and cutting your work, you'll have the recipe for success. Start with a simple pappardelle or other long pasta shape, and work your way up to projects like tortellini and oversized ravioli using our sunburst raviolo mold. Fresh pasta tastes so good, it can be served simply with a classic pomodoro sauce or even just butter and parmigiano reggiano, and it'll still feel like a world-class gourmet experience.

GIADA'S FEEL GOOD FOOD

For those who wonder how Giada manages to do it all, this book is the answer. Her first look into her personal health journey, it's a practical guide to living the way Giada does—in moderation above all, never deprivation. The recipes in this book make up a full 30-day plan of satisfying meals from breakfast to dessert. And yes, there's pasta!

Here are 120 recipes for breakfasts, juices, lunches, snacks, dinners, and desserts—each with nutritional breakdowns—that can be combined into 30 days of delicious feel-good meals. Special sections delve into Giada's everyday life, including her beauty and exercise routines, how she satisfies sugar fixes, what's always in her bag, and her ordering tips for eating in restaurants. With 100 color photographs, Giada's Feel Good Food is a beautiful guide to leading a happy, healthy lifestyle.

GIFT BOXES

Whether you're celebrating the holidays, a special event, or just want to let a friend know you're thinking of them, our wide selection of gift boxes is always the answer. Our carefully curated kits of specialty Italian foods offer something for everyone. Deliver a taste of la dolce vita for any occasion with the gift of delicious, unique foods imported directly from Italy that can't be found anywhere else.

Each gift set is stocked with authentic, top-quality foods from small family producers and artisans from across Italy. Gifting to a Giada De Laurentiis fan? Choose a set designed to complement a signed copy of one of her cookbooks and give them the joy of cooking along with Giada. Are they a pasta fanatic, sweet tooth, or gluten-free? We've got an edible gift for them, too. They're the perfect choice for housewarming gifts and hostess gifts and are guaranteed to please.

Every gift box comes beautifully presented in our custom-designed, reusable Giadzy box.

HOLIDAY 2024 PANETTONE

Many cultures enjoy a rich, eggy bread around Christmastime, often studded with dried fruits and nuts. Packed with expensive ingredients, they have long been considered an accessible bit of luxury for the festive season. While its history can be traced back to the ancient Romans, panettone as we know it originated in Milan in the 15th century. Its iconic dome is now a beloved presence at Christmas festivities around the country. Panettone is traditionally enjoyed by the slice with a glass of sweet dessert wine, but it makes a great breakfast alongside your morning coffee, too.

These panettoni come in a custom-designed box inspired by classic Italian design that will be a beloved keepsake long after the holidays are over.
