

2019 'DESCENTE' SAUVIGNON BLANC

WINEMAKER'S NOTE

Sauvignon Blanc really shows its terroir, and this wine comprises fruit from 3 small blocks on the estate that all bring different characteristics to the wine. The 2019 vintage was a slightly warmer than average and produced wines with concentrated lemon grass and pea pod characteristics. A classic vintage.

TASTING NOTES

Appearance: A pale green straw colour in the glass.

Aroma: Attractive aromas of lemongrass, crushed nettles and guava with a little grapefruit fruit kicking in behind too. Maybe just a touch of flintiness in the mix as well. Aromatic and very varietal.

Palate: The palate is crisp, fresh and zingy - the acid working beautifully with the fruit providing both structure and length.

Summary: The Adelaide Hills is one of Australia's leading regions for Sauvignon Blanc production. Our Lenswood vineyard continues to produce lovely examples.

Try this with chicken satays or with salt and pepper squid. Drink now and the next 2-3 years.
