Supporting Your Clinic

We know how demanding it is to run a busy clinic and the last thing you're thinking about is your clinic's supplies – they just have to be there – and we agree. Over the last few years with international supply chain challenges we have all experienced what it is like when products aren't available when you need them. It makes us value even more, a supplier, who puts in place a structure to really support your business. At Whiteley, we are constantly focused on how to support your clinic, and we believe this is what differentiates us from other suppliers in the industry.

Whiteley has been supporting the Physiotherapy industry for over 30 years, and is the only company with operations across Australia and New Zealand.

We have physiotherapists, and sports science graduates within our team to help develop and assess products, provide in-house training for our team, and to assist you with the technical application of the products.

We have 19 experienced sales representatives based across Australia and New Zealand available to meet with you in your clinic at a time suitable to you, to run through your clinic's products needs, demonstrate products, and assist with delivery of your clinic's needs.

We have nearly 9,000 products to offer you, with an objective of offering you the absolute premium product – but also economical alternatives, to allow you to choose the correct product for the circumstances.

We have a highly trained customer service team on call to assist with any inquiry. They can assist you with pricing, product availability, product application down to processing orders and chasing up deliveries.

“ We have been supporting the Physiotherapy Industry for over 30 years, nearly 9,000 products to offer you, and a highly trained customer service and sales team ready to support you. ”

We have just under 5,000 square meters of warehouse space across Australia, all packed to the rafters and with up to date IT systems to allow fast and efficient processing and tracking of your orders. With logistics warehouses located in Sydney, Adelaide, Perth and Auckland we are able to supply orders to most of Australia and New Zealand overnight.

Over 97% of mainline orders are dispatched within 24 hours. All orders are able to be tracked via our website.

We know that we are the only supplier able to offer all of the above and more. If you're already a Whiteley customer – we would like to thank you for allowing us to support your clinic. But if you're not – compare our services to your current supplier and we would welcome the opportunity to see how we can support your clinic.
