

A medical degree qualifies a Dr to be a practitioner of medicine, added heart brings on the attribute of a compassionate guide in healing.
While the medical expertise improves health the devotion improves life.

I was blessed to have been cared for by a doctor that encompasses these qualities.

May you continue to be a source of healing for all that come your way.