

Unisync Announces the Appointment of New CEO

TORONTO, April 25, 2019 -- Unisync Corp. (TSX: "UNI") ("Unisync") is pleased to announce that Matt Graham has been appointed Chief Executive Officer ("CEO") replacing Douglas Good who moves to Executive Chairman. Mr. Graham will be based out of Unisync's operational head office located in Mississauga, Ontario.

"As our board contemplated the right strategic leader for the next phase of Unisync's development, it quickly became apparent that Matt Graham was an excellent fit. He has the qualities and proven experience that Unisync needs to continue its growth strategy," commented Douglas Good. "His most recent role as CEO and Director of a large Australian Uniform company saw him increase revenues three-fold during his six year tenure and he personally drove an expansion into Asia and the Middle East based on his strong financial, marketing and global sourcing capabilities. Under his leadership the company became the Prime Vendor for the Australian Defence Forces and won several Defence design awards for innovation and excellence in Defence materials and equipment."

"His proven track record over nearly 30 years in the apparel industry speaks for itself. His senior management experience and passion for achieving high performance in growth, innovation and ultimately customer satisfaction will provide the vision and operational oversight for Unisync to optimize its current opportunities and leverage its existing capabilities into new verticals".

Mr. Graham, who spent his earlier years in the funds management financial sector before moving into apparel, was enthusiastic about the Unisync opportunity and his relocation to Canada. "I am excited to be joining such an innovative, forward-thinking organization as Unisync. They are a leader in end-to-end complex uniform managed service solutions and have a solid reputation in delivering innovative garment programs to both its public and private customers. I am very impressed with the level of success they have achieved to date and the current management team should be commended for their portfolio of blue-chip clients such as Air Canada, WestJet, Alaska Airlines, Purolator, Petro-Canada and the Canadian Department of National Defence, amongst others. I am excited to join the executive team at such a pivotal moment of growth for the company and I look forward to working with all Unisync divisions to exceed the expectations of our customers, partners and shareholders," commented Mr. Graham.
