ever & ivy

The Ever & Ivy collection of fashion jewelry, influenced by the retro styling of the '90s, is classic with an edge. Created for the person who loves the new heavier styles and understands that it would be a significant investment to purchase them in solid gold. Each piece is created in solid brass, with no allergens, and plated with a thick layer of 14K Gold or Rhodium (a member of the Platinum family) and so skillfully created that the materials are indistinguishable from solid gold. Ever & Ivy founder and designer Joan Cohen believes that jewelry is a must to complete every moment in your life.. moments that are part of your daily routine and moments that are special occasions. Jewelry has long been a source of inspiration and confidence for so many of us. The right piece can feel as though it has a magical effect, influencing your mood, your emotions and your performance. It can act as a lens through which you view yourself and communicate to the world around you a sense of empowerment.

With timeless designs and a lifetime warranty, these pieces can be a part of your wardrobe for years to come. This collection tells the world that you recognize quality and have great style. Each piece is designed in Toronto, Canada, and created in top workshops around the world in facilities that have been audited for fair trade practices and proudly bear the distinctions of the industry.

At Ever & Ivy, it's not just about looking good, it's about feeling good too.

With Ever & Ivy, Every Piece Is A Piece Of You.
