P034 $56.95 A career is more than a series of jobs; it is a pathway to the realisation of your goals. To succeed in the new job market we must approach this challenge with an innovative and creative attitude. This can be achieved in a variety of means, but one absolutely crucial element is a positive attitude and willingness to adapt, learn and grow. It is essential to first discover the self through analysing our beliefs systems, identify our strengths as well as limiting attitudes. Only when this is done can we articulate our short term and life goals and visualise where we want to be.
