hello

Welcome to Ollie & Ivy.

Our principal floral designer is Parisian-trained, Marie Bailey, who lived and worked in Paris for three years and was mentored by internationally acclaimed florist, Catherine Muller. Having qualified in contemporary garden-style design, Marie was privileged to work alongside Catherine, delivering on major projects for the fashion and hospitality industries, including Paris Fashion Week.

Prior to embarking on a creative life, Marie was a senior teaching academic and HR practitioner, with over fifteen years' experience of designing both university-led executive education and corporate training programmes across the UK. And it is this experience of corporate life, teaching and creativity that prompted the launch of The Ollie & Ivy Flower School, renowned in Scotland for its range of floral classes and programmes and recently featured in Good Housekeeping and Woman & Home magazine.

Experts in providing services for the corporate sector, we offer the exclusive Corporate Creatives, an employee wellbeing and innovation programme designed to meet your organisational objectives through play and creativity.

We also specialise in bringing our creative thinking to corporate event floral design, working with a number of leading corporations. Our designs are always organic and natural, celebrating the seasons and minimising our environmental impact.

The client's needs are also a key priority for us, which is why we offer a full concierge floral service to all our customers, tailored to your key deliverables and on-brand messaging.

So if you are interested in understanding how our corporate training or events service can enhance your business, then we would be delighted to hear from you.

corporate creatives

Our Corporate Creatives programme is designed to meet organisational objectives through play and creativity. Whether you are looking to build a strong team, create resilience or promote innovative thinking, our tailor-made workshops can help achieve your learning organisational objectives.

Time to get creative

Helping improve employee wellbeing, teamwork and innovation

As businesses and organisations evaluate the world and their role within it, leaders are looking for more interesting ways to engage and retain their people. Considering a floral workshop may seem far removed from the corporate imperatives and objectives, but creativity has a valuable role to play in strengthening business and organisational performance.

So, if you are looking to improve employee wellbeing and resilience, bolster effective team and project work or inspire innovation at work, our creative programmes offer a great way of injecting some creativity into your work programme.

Working with you

Designed with you in mind, we tailor our service to ensure our content is relevant and meets your organisational objectives. We begin by finding out more about you and your organisation and what you are looking to achieve. We then develop and deliver our workshops according to your needs, checking in with you along the way and after the event.

Experts in training

With over fifteen years' experience in leadership teaching and training, we have a background in developing management programmes across the corporate and university sectors, giving us a real understanding of learning and development in industry. With our knowledge and skills in this, we have combined our love of floristry with our passion for training in this unique corporate training package.

For more details on how we can help your organisation and employees, do get in touch. We would be very happy to discuss your needs.

Ollie & Ivy were a fantastic choice for our event at COP26 in Glasgow. Marie and her team really met the brief and helped emphasise the sustainable and green credentials of our business through the floral designs. Also keen to communicate with us, Ollie & Ivy delivered on time and our guests were delighted with the results.

corporate events

Experts in event floristry, Ollie & Ivy have a background in working with commercial organisations and understand the importance of creating the right aesthetic for your event. We understand that first impressions count and delivering on brief is critical.

Over the last few years we have worked on a range of projects for our corporate clients. Back in 2021, at the UN Climate Change Conference - COP26 - Ollie & Ivy were commissioned to create a green-themed installation in Glasgow. We chose a very natural and organic design and ensured foliage was centre-stage, sourcing local stems and branches from our suppliers in Scotland.

Since 2022, the Weir Group have continued to commission us to style their key annual events and adhering to their brand colours, we have designed sophisticated arrangements and displays that complement the modern corporate interiors of this city centre headquarters. International beverage corporation, Diageo, have also been a champion of our work, undertaking floral arrangements for their senior managers and board level meetings. And whilst a recommended supply for the Intercontinental Hotel Group (IHG) we regularly create floral displays for their clients and their own international gala dinner.

More recently, we have been privileged to work on Quality Meats Scotland, providing the floral aesthetics for HRH Anne, The Princess Royal.

If you would like to learn more about how we can help you plan your corporate event, please get in touch.

floral contracts and gift bouquets

How and where we work has changed over the last few years, but there are still times when fresh beautiful flowers lift a space and create a stunning addition to your workplace.

Whether you are looking to bring colour to a boardroom or offer a warm welcome in a reception lobby for guests or clients, flowers can really add impact and reinforce your brand.

Alternatively, if you are looking for a gift bouquet for guests or colleagues, we would be delighted to deliver one of our unique luxury bouquets from The Ollie & Ivy Flower Collection.

We offer a regular floral service to organisations and venues across Edinburgh and Glasgow and are happy to negotiate preferable terms for our contract clients.
