Day Dweller Clothing Co is a rapidly growing tattoo-inspired e-commerce clothing brand that creates unique and original designs and overprints onto a wide range of garments. This exciting new role is a brand new position, where the right candidate will be trained by the Company Director (Lew Fountain), to take over full responsibility of all production and packing efforts.

The business is located in a newly opened studio in the heart of Bristol, which is also a part Tattoo Studio, trading under Day Dweller Studios.

The workplace has regular customers coming into the studio for consultations and tattoo appointments. As the company grows, so will the production demands & expectations, and further employment will be required where we expect the candidate for this role to be trained and promoted into a managerial function with further salary entitlement.
