VINTAGE 099

Cattle leather of European origin, chrome tanned, vacuum dried, finished with clearing oil, manually rubbed down to give an old effect. Thickness 1.4/1.6 mm.

The aniline's leather are the most prestigious skin for upholstered, the possible difference in color, that you can find between dye lot and sometimes also on single hide are the inevitable characteristics of aniline dyed leathers, as the spots, chafing and sun and artificial lights.

These high quality leathers are characterized by the complete absence of protective chemical that would alter the natural beauty. We recommend you, the only weekly dusting with a dry and soft dust cloth.

Any substance may come into contact with the skin must, as far as possible, be removed immediately, in order to limit its absorption. Be careful in covering sofas and chairs with slipcovers or quilts, with the intent to preserve it from wear as they may have been dyed with dyes that can migrate on the leather, staining it irredeemably.

Approvals: BS 5852:Part 1:1979

Our leather has to be cleaned with the use of a white soft cloth , dampen with very few soap in water. After have it wrung well, you have to pass the cloth on the leather, applying light pressure. For drying it, use an ordinary powder very soft cloth. This operation must be carried out without applying excessive pressure.

This operation must be done 3/4 times a year, while the dust can be done weekly. Any substance may come into contact with the skin must, as far as possible , be removed immediately, in order to limit its absorption. Be careful in covering sofas and chairs with slipcovers or quilts, with the intent to preserve it from wear as they may have been dyed with dyes, that can migrate on the leather, staining it irredeemably. For a more specific cleaning we have appropriate cleaning kit.

ANILINA 4306 AMBRA

ANILINA 4305 ARDESIA

Leathers of European origin, chrome-tanned, barrel-dyed, and without any kind of refinement. This leather is as close as possible to the concept of leather as nature created it. All natural features, such as wrinkles, chiaroscuro, and imperfections, enhance its genuine beauty, making each piece unique.

Thickness: 1.1/1.3 mm.

For cleaning our items, it is recommended to use a soft white cloth dampened in water with very little neutral soap. After wringing it out well, proceed to gently pass the cloth over the leather with slight pressure. For drying, use a very soft normal dust cloth. Also, this operation should be carried out without applying excessive pressure. These procedures should be done 3/4 times a year, while dusting can be done weekly. Any substance that comes into contact with the leather should, as much as possible, be removed as soon as possible to limit absorption. Pay attention to covering sofas and armchairs with sofa covers or quilts to preserve them from wear, as they may have been dyed with colorants that can migrate onto the leather, irreversibly staining it.
