2012 Semillon

Grapes: Semillon (100%)

Wine Notes: 2012 was a cool summer with higher than normal humidity. The grapes ripened gently to maintain good acidity. The Semillon was picked at medium maturity and vinified without oak or malolactic fermentation. At first a 'shy' wine with the tang of citrus, but now with good bottle age the wine shows delightful complexity, characteristic of Semillon.

Vin de Garage No11

“Pétillant Naturel”

Wine Notes: Not champagne, not prosecco, not cider, but with elements of each, this wine is bottle fermented without the addition of sugar, by bottling the wine during primary fermentation.

Nerve-racking, this method means picking at the perfect time, and aiming for 15 grams per litre of natural grape sugars when bottling.

The fruit was 100% estate grown, organic chardonnay, picked crisp and green, immediately pressed and hyperoxidised with active solids maceration in steel tank, prior to racking and inoculation with a house yeast provided by the skin contact chardonnay which was already 3 days into ferment by this stage.

Once fermentation kicked off the ferment was chilled to keep it as long, slow and controlled as possible, not killing the yeast but aiming to have as much of it settle in the bottom of the tank as possible before bottling into sparkling wine bottles directly from the fermentation tank.

The wine continued to ferment in the bottle and was left “on lees” (dead yeast) for 3 months, before the bottles were “riddled” to get the lees to settle into the neck of the bottle. Another 2 months, and the wine was “disgorged” (removing the lees) and labelled.

We are very pleased with this wine – it is vibrant, fruity, spritzy, and low alcohol.

No sulphites, added yeast, fining agents or any other additives were used from harvest to the finished product.

2017 Grand-Père

Blend: Shiraz (70%), Mourvedre (20%) Grenache (10%)

Wine Notes: This wine is dedicated to Florence's grandfather Albéric Dulong de Rosnay, or in french, "Grand Père", who was a small vigneron in France many years ago. It is made using a high percentage of shiraz, mourvedre and grenache pressings. Pressings, where the press is cut off before any coarse flavours are extracted from the seeds, often have the most flavour and robust tannin of the wine. Pressings can be astringent when young, but when matured in new french oak and old french oak barrels the wine gains softness and complexity and is well suited to bottle ageing.

This limited production wine was mainly produced for restaurants and cellar door.

Rosnay 2018 Freedom Mourvedre review

From the Statham family's organic farm – boasting vineyards, olive groves and fig orchards – in New South Wales' central west, this bold red wine has been produced and bottled with no added preservatives. It's a fairly chunky 15% alcohol, best paired with something rich and meaty and slow-cooked, but mourvedre's wild spicy aromatic and fine-grippy, savoury tannins keep the wine lively and bright on the tongue. - Max Allen, Gourmet Traveller Wine April 2019.
