

We offer a great range of products for new and existing beekeepers.
To make it easier to decide which option is best for you,
we've created this handy chart:

Full hive or super?

Are you new to beekeeping?

YES
I'm a newbee!

NO
I've kept bees before

You'll need a beesuit and a smoker

Do you already use Langstroth equipment?

NO

YES

A complete Flow Hive will be the best way to get started with Flow.

A complete Flow Hive with angled baseboard is the most convenient option.
However, you also have the option of adding a Flow Super to an existing hive, or modifying your own super to add Flow Frames.

Which width?

Do you live in a region where the temperature is around freezing for weeks at a time during winter?

What size equipment do you use?

YES

NO

8 frame Langstroth

10 frame Langstroth

The wider Flow Hive 7 Frame

The standard width Flow Hive 6 Frame

A Flow Hive or Flow Super 6 Frame

A Flow Hive or Flow Super 7 Frame

Popular in cooler climates as it provides additional space for winter stores, plus an extra frame of honey to harvest.

Widely used around the world and is lighter to lift than a 7 Frame. This is a great way to start your beekeeping journey.

Compatible with your 8 frame Langstroth equipment.

Compatible with your 10 frame Langstroth equipment.

Which timber?

All options are durable and sustainably harvested

Our 6 and 7 Frame Flow Hives are offered in two timber types. Would you prefer premium timber or the more economical option?

Premium

Economical

Western Red Cedar

Araucaria

More durable, lighter timber with a natural grain finish. We recommend a coat of sealant.

Australian native cabinet timber, highly regarded for its stability and durability. We recommend two coats of paint.

Which model?

Would you like to have all the latest features, or a lower price?

More features

Lower price

The Flow Hive 2+

The Flow Hive 2

Flow Hive Classic

Flow Hive Hybrid

Our flagship hive with new hive health management features plus all the favourites from our original Flow Hive 2
(only available in western red cedar)

Our bestselling Flow Hive 2 – Australian owned, grown, designed and manufactured.
(Only available in araucaria).

Our original and signature kit that made Flow a household name.
(Only available in araucaria).

Our most economical hive and allows you to harvest fresh honeycomb along with pure honey.
(Only available in araucaria).

