

The Coming Storm

Update 6 April 2022

Does not include updates to the Study Folder, Casualty Record, or Turn Record Track. New versions of these components can be downloaded from:

<https://napoleongames.com/pages/the-coming-storm>

The Battle of Jena-Auerstädt

21.52: The number of Prussian Mode cards for the Approach to Battle scenario should be 3.

Counters

- The Prussian Leader Alt Larisch should have a “6” instead of an “M.”
- Yurkovski (Russian), Pelet (Prussian), and Heyking (Prussian) may be replaced by Vedettes as if they were LC units.
- Use the French 1807 baggage train for the Cavalry Corps in all battles.

Maps

- There is no additional MP cost or combat strength impact for a combined slope/stream hexside, e.g., Eylau hex 0330, 0430, or 0531.
- Ignore little bits of woods such as shown on the Pultusk map in hexes 0147, 0305, 1115, 0714, and 1915; or on Jena 3150 and 3249.
- Jena map: Assume there is a Trestle wherever a trail crosses a stream.

Card Deck

- Card No. 7, Turning Movement (addition):
“Any formation, stack* or unit in Supply ...”
* if all units in a stack are of the same division.
- Card No. 17, Cavalry Pursuit (clarification):
Ignore the first sentence. The Cavalry Impetus rule was deleted from this game.
- Card No. 26, Reinforcements Take Another Route: Mark this card as having an Enduring Effect.
- Card No. 27, Delay: Play of this card applies to all units of a formation, even those arriving in later turns. If more than one force is scheduled to arrive on the same turn, the player of the card chooses which is affected.
- Card No. 28, Heavy Cavalry & Combined Arms: Remove all of these cards from the game.