

PLAYER TWO

Rules: In this file, you'll find five sets of designs. Having your partner sitting at the table, ready to draw with their colored pencils, use your finger to "draw" one collection of designs. Your partner must then draw on a piece of paper what you are drawing on their back.

For an added challenge, they must get the colors correct too. However, you cannot speak while drawing, so you both will need to develop a way to nonverbally coordinate with each other to find the necessary colors.

After one set of designs, switch roles. Before you begin, talk with each other to see how you can "communicate" a little better during the next set of designs.
