Ultimate performance...

from novice to elite, every athlete wants to push themselves harder and further to achieve the best they can – that moment of ‘flow’ when everything comes together.

Here at Ultimate Performance® we understand the search for that moment and the efforts required to achieve it. We understand the sacrifices and we also understand the journey. It is that journey of every athlete, runner, walker or cyclist where our story begins. It is where our products are dreamed, designed, tested, evolved and then developed some more. Our aim is to provide innovative, technically proficient useful products driven by function and performance rather than corporate figures.

It is why the origins of UP® are rooted in you the athlete. It is why our product development is focused in and around the fells, trails, mountains and general outdoors of Great Britain. One of the key testing areas has been the Lake District, home of off road running. The Lakes symbolise our search for ultimate performance – quite spectacular locations with a diverse landscape of running trails and climbing crags carved amongst the many rolling peaks and alongside the beautiful waters. As hydration features so prominently in the UP® product range, we have taken inspiration for product names from the waterfalls (‘forces’) and lakes of the region, and beyond.

A brief word about sustainability: We have been working hard on improving our overall sustainability profile. This includes both the materials in our products and packaging; using more recycled, more ecological or just less materials, and shipping it as little as we can – as well as minimising the conversion process and energy inputs to arrive at finished product. While we recognise our whole industry is only at the beginning of the path, we want to continue this process in our brands' evolution throughout 2024 and beyond.

Ultimate Performance – the only way is UP®

UPB300 / UPB580

Our ECO bottles are 100% bio polymers made from plants, which absorb carbon dioxide while growing and when converted to polymer, are carbon neutral. Using the latest technology reduces the energy consumption needed to process plastics. The factory uses solar energy to power production and for lighting. These bottles are fully recyclable and we highly recommend them.

Our RECYCLED bottles help prevent plastics reaching landfill or ending up in the eco system. The random nature of the colour and pattern is from the recycled input plastic, making each bottle totally unique.

Ultimate Performance are actively involved in helping reduce the amount of plastic produced and working towards ending single use plastic.
