Friendly. Combining the warmth of real wood with minimalistic white elements gives Gustav its friendly look – a welcome contrast to many traditional office environments.

As small as possible, but big enough to fit all essential tools and belongings. The product size is optimised so Gustav fits easily in a standard locker.

Everything. Anytime. Anywhere.

Gustav occupies the space between your work locker and your personal bag. It is a semi-permanent hub; a place to store those essential work tools you don't take home but need when you are on the move around the office.

Our Story

At Tuesday On The Beach Ltd. we are on the journey to improve the way people work. We do this by developing innovative office tools. We believe in freedom of a personal and flexible work style, room for creativity and individuality at work and a life-work balance.

Co-founder Chris is an architect and leading workplace strategist. He knows and understands first hand the needs of people working in agile office environments.

Back then, Chris was desperate to find good tools that really focus on what people need most. As he couldn't find them, he set out to design his first product - Gustav Original.

As a brand and digital strategist, Judit saw first hand how technology impacts how and where we work - increasing the demand for agile office solutions to work from anywhere. After several years of prototyping, refining and developing the product and brand, they launched Tuesday On The Beach Ltd. in 2017.
