FERNOGREEN NON-STICK COOKWARE

In any aluminium as well as some stainless steel cookware you'll find a coating that serves as a buffer between your ingredients and the body material. FernoGreen is an industrial non-stick coating used for cookware (PTFE) and bakeware (silicone-polyester).

This unique coating is especially known for its ultimate non-stick properties. It prevents food from sticking in the pan while cooking, even with an absolute minimum of oil. PTFE coatings repel oil, water, and nutrients. Sugars, gluten, and proteins cannot adhere to the surface. Just make sure you take good care of the cookware by using soft utensils, never cut into your pan and use protectors when storing to avoid scratching the coating. Our FernoGreen coating does not contain PFOA, GEN-X, BPA, APEO, NMP or PFOS.

SUSTAINABLE FORMULA-LABEL

The best for you, your health, and the environment. This 'Sustainable formula' - marking fulfills important requirements for environmental and health protection. It has a significant contribution and impact to questions around sustainability.

UQONIQ DOWNDRAFT

BergHOFF's innovative Uqoniq cookware range is a perfect fit for all cooktops, cooker hoods and downdraft exhaust systems. These pots and pans ensure a controlled steam release and direct the steam from inside the pot directly to the exhaust fan. This not only eliminates any lingering odours but also minimizes heat loss for energy-efficient cooking.

The BergHOFF Uqoniq downdraft pots and pans come with a matching glass lid that has integrated air ducts in its silicone rim to stimulate the air flow. The lid can either be used to close off the pot in order to speed up the heating process, create a low pressure cooker and preserve the heat and flavours in the pot during cooking, or, when rotated 180°C, to let the air escape and guide the steam from inside the pot directly towards the downdraft vent.
