About Jason

Growing up on the coast of Western Australia, it was almost inevitable that as kids, we developed an interest in the outdoors, being on the water, remote camping and fishing. Whenever the opportunity arose, we were in the water or away camping somewhere. Through this respect for the great outdoors, we were taught the value of dependable gear.

Personally, I have also always had a love for watches, the engineering, looks, the different styles. Combined with my love of the outdoors, I wanted to create watches that could be worn every day, a watch that would be as at home on the wrist down the beach as it is in the office.
