1856 SYDNEY MINT GOLD HALF SOVEREIGN

x200%

Known as the Type 1, the inaugural half sovereign design of the nation, was only struck for circulation for the brief period of 1855 to 1856, rendering both years notably significant. This design, incorporating the full name of the mint, 'Sydney Mint', into the legend, diverged from established norms of the era, capturing the intrigue of historians and collectors alike.

Despite the country's status as separate colonies until Federation in 1901, the inclusion of the national name, 'Australia', on the coins, adds a layer of historical interest.

While the obverse design bore resemblance to British coins, the Type 1 design remains a distinctive and captivating piece of Australian and numismatic history.

HELLO! WELCOME TO MARCH NUMI$NEWS®

NUMI$NEWS® Update

The year 2023 proved to be an exceptionally bustling period for Wynyard Coin Centre. With a flurry of new releases and numerous engagements at trade shows, both locally and abroad, our team found itself fully immersed in processing orders, cataloguing new stock, and managing the day-to-day operations of our shop. Regrettably, amidst these demands, we were unable to dedicate the necessary resources to produce our monthly catalogue as frequently as we have in the past.

Between physical mailings, we regularly dispatch emails and social media posts containing new product alerts, special offers, and important updates. If you haven't already, we highly recommend subscribing to our email list via our website, reaching out to us via email, or giving us a call to ensure you stay updated.

It's worth noting that NUMI$NEWS® has been a cornerstone of our service for nearly half a century, however, in light of the escalating costs associated with print media, postage, and labour, we find ourselves reallocating our resources more toward digital avenues to better serve you.

EQL

During the past 18 months, we encountered challenges fairly distributing highly sought-after new releases, particularly from the Royal Australian Mint.

In late 2023, we partnered with EQL (pronounced Equal) to enhance the reliability, security, and fairness of our most coveted launches, aimed at serving you, the collector, better.

Looking ahead, high-demand new releases will be allocated through EQL's Run Fair® ballot-style system. For further details, please visit bit.ly/EQLFAQ.

Those subscribed to our email updates will receive notifications and updates regarding EQL run launches.
