

BECOME A Momiji designer

If you'd like to submit an idea for a Momiji doll we'll need...

1

A FRONT, BACK AND SIDE VIEW of your doll like this example:

2

A digital file. You can create your doll in any digital programme but please send it to us as a jpg at this stage. It can be a 2D or 3D file, either is fine.

We're sometimes asked if there is a template for creating a Momiji but as each character is a different shape we never work from templates. It's probably a good idea to familiarise yourself with the usual Momiji proportions (head:body ratio) so that you can capture the brand look and feel.

We get sent lots of submissions but we're not able to turn all of them into real Momiji dolls. We're very grateful for all the time and dedication that goes into each design. If we feel that your doll could be a good fit for us then we'll certainly be in touch. We're sorry we're not able to reply to everyone individually.

LEGAL STUFF

Before you submit your design, please read through the points below. If you're happy to go ahead then please upload your designs via the form on the website.

1. Copyright, where it exists, remains with you, the designer.
2. By submitting your design to us you warrant that the work is original and free from third party copyright or design rights. Basically, you're confirming that nobody else owns the design.
3. By submitting a design you are confirming that you are the author of the work.
4. We work many months in advance on designs so it's possible that your doll might share a theme with a Momiji we're already working on or that another designer has submitted.
5. If we agree to progress the project then Momiji and the artist will agree a fee to include the transfer of all rights and moral rights over the work. This will be outlined in a separate agreement.
6. Submissions must be supplied in the format outlined above.
7. Any dispute which might arise under these rules is to be settled under English law in the UK using an independent dispute resolution service of the choice of Momiji HQ Ltd.
