OCTOBER
BEER SIX

DRINK LOCAL, SUPPORT LOCAL

WELCOME

OK, there's no denying it. It is inevitable, and it's inching ever-closer to us. That bite in the air in the morning, the chill you feel when the sun goes down... Fall's tenuous grip on us is weakening, and winter is just itching to get through.

Fear not!

We've assembled your fall survival guide, six perfect beers to help you cope with the cooling temperatures & ease you into your longjohns... errr your winter-pants. With Ambers and Darks to suit your mood and the shorter days, this six pack is going to be your companion through these last few days in the double digits that are on the RIGHT side of zero!

Field & Forge, The Growlery, SYC's famous sweet-potato beer, Railyard, Fahr and introducing the newest brewery to Sandy Lane, Polyrhythm! All six are great brews & sure to please.

With winter on the way, we're also excited to announce that we've improved on our annual Christmas advent pack. We've gone HUGE this year and have released a massive 24 beer Advent box. That's right, 24 separate cans from 24 great Albertan breweries to explore this holiday season. We've got our pre-sale going on right now, through to November 5, where you can save $25 on your calendar. Supplies are limited, so once they're gone, they're gone! Check them out!

THIS MONTH'S SELECTION

KREATURE

SYC, EDMONTON, AB

It will admit I was hesitant to try Kreature a few years ago, but I'm thankful I took the plunge. It is one of the beers I eagerly anticipate each year. A beer derived from Sweet Potatoes (hence my hesitation), Kreature is a delight! With smoky caramel notes & hints of cloves and cinnamon, this Kreature doesn't scare me anymore.

$18.50/ 4pk

ON PITCH

POLYRHYTHM, EDMONTON, AB

This crisp red ale was produced in conjunction with Alley Kat and the Riverhawks to help celebrate our ball-team going all-craft at the diamonds this year. Polyrhythm is a new addition to Sandy Lane, and we're just tickled pink (red) to have them aboard. Not overly heavy, but just heavy enough to let you know it's an amber ale.

$19/ 4pk

WEIZENBOCK

FAHR, CALGARY, AB

Think of those dark chocolate bars with fruit chunks throughout that you'd have at Christmas time... that's what I think of each time I open a can of this Weizenbock. Fahr is world-renown for their beers, their Hefe often taking home gold year after year. This beer holds to that tradition and is a delight to drink.

THIS MONTH'S SELECTION

BIG OAK ENERGY

THE GROWLER, EDMONTON, AB

Big Oak Energy gets its amazing flavors by being aged on oak spirals. This imparts chocolate notes and depth to this smooth-drinking and complex beer. It doesn't hurt that the Growler uses only the best malts, hops & yeast, but don't tell them that... it'll just go to their heads! (Tom says so!)

$19/ 4pk

COFFEE DOBBELBOCK

FIELD & FORGE, INNISFAIL, ALBERTA

i LOVE coffee. If you've ever come into the store you'll find me sucking back on my thermos of coffee I bring every day! So this beer was a natural fit for me, and I think you'll love it too. Coffee is most pronounced, but the subtle chocolate and malty notes are what really sell it for me. Perfect with pancakes on a chilly Sunday morning!

$16.50/ 4pk

DARK AMERICAN WHEAT

RAILYARD, CALGARY, AB

This sexy beer pours almost a complete black, with a tan head to it. Blackcurrant and coffee are the high-notes on the taste profile, but there's a slight spiced edge to the aftertaste that leaves an almost sweetness on your tongue. It's great, I'm babbling about it. Just stop reading and start sipping. Did I mention it's won awards? No? WHY ARE YOU STILL READING!?
