Bea Mombaers

SERAX

In her distinctive style, interior stylist Bea Mombaers further expands her eclectic universe with unique table accessories made of acacia wood and matt polished stainless steel - whether or not finished with a gold-coloured PVD coating. Her collection started out with multifunctional ice buckets that you can combine with matching lids made of durable acacia wood. The lids in turn can be used as cutting boards, coasters or plates when you turn them over. With the bottle opener and lemon peeler you can give that cocktail an extra twist. And to scoop the ice cubes out of the buckets, the designer has created the Triangle Spoons in both matt stainless steel and acacia wood. The wooden spoons are accompanied by three more serving spoons for small and larger side dishes. With the deep plates Bea Mombaers completes her statement: "It does not always have to be porcelain or ceramics. You can also create the perfect atmosphere at the table with metal and wooden accessories."

The deep plates made of matt stainless steel stand out for their timeless simplicity. Devoid of colours and frills, but durable and endowed with an unmistakable beauty that increases the more you use them. The three plates have a diameter of 17.5, 22.5, or 26 cm and thanks to their depth, they can also be used as dishes or bowls. Alone or in combination with other items in the collection, Bea Mombaers for Serax breaks with tradition in style.

SERAX

The ice buckets of the Bea Mombaers for Serax line are ideal for entertaining large and small groups. The large bucket (28 cm in diameter) keeps a couple of bottles cold at the same time, while the medium-sized bucket is the perfect companion for a single bottle during an intimate dinner. The smallest bucket (13 cm in diameter) is excellent to sit on the table to provide your drink with ice cubes when needed.

The separately available acacia wooden lids also serve as coasters or cutting boards when you put them upside down on the table. This way, you can also cut your lemon to give that Gin & Tonic an additional twist. The matt polished stainless steel of the silver or gold-coloured ice buckets forms a nice contrast with the acacia wood of the lids. With Bea Mombaers for Serax, your aperitif or dinner is given an extra sparkle.

Acacia wood is not only very durable, it also becomes more beautiful as it ages. That is why Bea Mombaers chose matt varnished acacia wood serving spoons to formulate her stylish answer to the standard stainless-steel variants. The large rice spoon, the medium serving spoon, and the small jam spoon also fit together perfectly, making them almost a work of art when placed on top of each other on the beautifully set table. Thanks to their streamlined design, the serving spoons also lie very comfortably in the hand. Combine them with the Triangle Spoons and other table accessories from the collection to add a Bea Mombaers for Serax touch to your table.
