CAST MAKERS
FOR NEARLY HALF A CENTURY
The quality of a plaster cast reproduction is of the greatest importance. In an original art work of merit there is a subtlety of treatment, a certain feeling, which if lost in reproducing places the reproduction outside of what can be classed as a work of art. Our casts are from imported models, made directly from the originals, which is the secret of their known excellence, apart from the perfection of workmanship in reproduction. Every cast of our make has a brass label bearing our name and address, a guarantee of quality and exclusiveness, based upon our own search for the choicest subjects in the Museums of Europe and upon our personal supervision of our workshops. The leading Art Museums, the best judges of quality in plaster casts, command our works as foremost in this country.

As to variety and scope of subjects produced by us, we have the largest collection of its kind in the world, as presented herewith in our catalogue of over twenty-five hundred illustrations.

The pose in B and C is modelled after that of the St. Gardes' Lincoln in Lincoln Park, Chicago.

The heads are those of the busts Nos. 5394 and 5395, by Max Bachmann, considered by leading authorities to be the finest likeness of Lincoln ever produced in sculpture.

Tiffany & Co. and The Gorham Co. of New York purchased the right to reproduce these busts in bronze.

This striking bust of Longfellow (by Thomas Brock) invested in the toga of Doctor of Letters given him at Oxford University is in the Poets’ Corner, Westminster Abbey. A plaster replica of the original marble was presented to Harvard University by King Edward VII, then Prince of Wales. From this replica, through the courtesy of President Eliot, we were allowed to make our mould.
