

We've updated our Privacy Policy to reflect new GDPR laws, which come into force on 25th May 2018. Find out more about how your data is used in the chapters below.

COLLECTION OF INFORMATION

We collect personal information that you provide us when you open an account or place an order. You may provide us with your name, postal and billing addresses, phone numbers, email addresses and date of birth. When you buy something on our website, we collect information about your order such as items purchased, when and where you bought it and what type of payment you used. We will keep your data for as long as lawfully required for the purposes for which it was collected.

When you browse our website we may also collect non-personally identifiable information such as what kind of device you used to view the website, the browser application, your browsing behaviour such as how many pages you visited, and information about how you navigated to the website – for example through a search engine, or by clicking on an advert. We may also collect your IP address.

When you subscribe to our newsletter, enter a competition, answer a customer survey or take part in promotions, we may collect your personal information, feedback or contributions when answering questions. We may collect the details of any email communications we send to you that you open or click on, including the links you click on in those emails. We may collect any personal information you provide us with when you contact us via email, telephone, post, or social media.

Sensitive information is not sought through this website. Sensitive information includes data relating to: race or ethnic origin; political opinions; religious or other similar beliefs; physical or mental health. If you do provide sensitive information, by providing that information you explicitly consent to us using it for the purposes for which it has been provided.

When you submit your personal information you are asked to consent to us using your information for the purposes set forth in this privacy policy and our terms & conditions. We only collect information that you provide to us: if you would prefer us not to collect any personal information from you, please do not provide us with any such information. The information we request from you for the purposes of processing an order is required for this purpose: if you fail to provide this information we reserve the right not to accept your order.

WHAT YOUR INFORMATION IS USED FOR

We use the personal information we collect to process your transactions and administer and operate your account, in order to supply you with the goods and services you buy or wish to buy, help you with placing orders, or communicate with you while your order is in process or production. We use your personal information to respond to queries, questions or comments you have raised, to manage promotions, competitions, customer surveys and questionnaires, and to tell you about important changes to the website and our services.

We use the non-personally identifiable data we gather, and we aggregate anonymous customer data, for internal business purposes such as generating statistics or understanding how people use our website. We may use this data to improve our website or add new features.

If we have collected your IP address, this may be associated with your browsing experience (for example items added to your basket) to help us fix any bugs or problems on our website, or to help us with fraud screening. We may use your IP address to identify the country or city you are based in, in order to send you personalized messages that are relevant to you.

Using your Information for Marketing & Promotions

If you agree, we may use your information to tell you about products, promotions, special offers and events. We may look at what you have previously ordered to tell you about products that will be of particular interest to you.

We will explicitly ask for your consent to receive any email marketing from us, and you can opt-out or change your subscription status at any time. Either visit your account area on the website, or use the unsubscribe link at the bottom of every email to change your status.

We may also use your browsing behaviour to serve you personalized content on the site, or provide you with relevant online advertising relating to our brand and products. The data we gather in this context is non-personally identifiable.

We place banner adverts on other websites that is based on products you may have viewed while visiting our website. This technology is based on cookies: please see our Cookie Policy for more information. The data being used by cookies for this purpose is not personally identifiable.

COOKIES

We use cookies and similar technologies, such as tags and pixels (“Cookies”), to personalise and improve your customer experience as you use our websites and mobile apps and to provide you with relevant online advertising.

Cookies are small files stored on your computer when you visit certain web pages: we use encrypted information gathered from them to help improve your experience of the site. For example, they help us to track items you've added to your basket, to identify and resolve errors, or to determine relevant related products to show you when you're browsing. Please note that cookies can't harm your computer. We don't store any personally identifiable or sensitive information such as credit card details in cookies.

To order products on our website you need to have cookies enabled on your computer, tablet or mobile phone. Web browsers have cookies enabled, but see 'managing cookies' for help to turn them on should you need to. We also use cookies to help us place banner advertisements on other websites that will show you products that are relevant to products you've viewed on previous visits to our website.

You can disable cookies if you would prefer not to have them on site: to do this, please consult the 'help' section on the specific browser you are using. You can also opt-out of being shown advertisements based on cookies: for more information on this please visit the Network Advertising website.
