

NANNETTE SHAW

Selected curriculum vitae

Nannette Shaw is a Tyereelore Elder and Trawoolway woman who also has ties to the Bunurong people of Victoria. She is a traditional kelp worker, basket weaver and shell stringer following the traditions of her ancestors.

Nannette creates traditional bull kelp vessels in the same way as the Ancestral women of Tasmania have done for thousands of years.

Nannette has featured in Kanalaritja: An Unbroken String and Tayenebe through the Tasmanian Museum and Art Gallery, and the National Museum in Canberra, both of which toured Australia for two years. Nannette has gifted kelp work to the Queen Victoria Museum and the University of Tasmania's Riawunna Centre.

Exhibitions

2022	The sea, the sea , Silver Leaf Art Box, Mornington Peninsula, Victoria
2021	Dark MoFo, Darklab, Hobart
2021	Yalingwa, TarraWarra Gallery, Healesville
2021	The University of Melbourne, Margaret Lawrence Gallery, Dodds Street, Southbank, Victoria
2018-2021	Southeast Aboriginal Arts Markets
2018-2021	Taranthi Art Fair, Adelaide, South Australia
2017-2021	Darwin Art Fair
2018	In Cahoots, Freemantle Art Centre (ongoing)
2017	Kanalaritja: An Unbroken String , Tasmanian Museum and Art Gallery and Australian National Museum, Canberra
	Black Arts Market, Carriageworks, Redfern, Sydney
2010 / 11	Tayenebe , Tasmanian Museum and Art Gallery and Australian National Museum, Canberra

Awards

2018	Finalist in National Aboriginal Torres Strait Islanders Art Award, Darwin
2018	Winner, Koorie Heritage Art Award, Melbourne

Workshops

20+ Kelp and Basket Weaving workshops in Tasmania, Victoria (Baluk Arts) & Adelaide Nyria Niara Festival, Bruny Island

NAIDOC Week workshops on Flinders Island for Flinders Island Aboriginal Association Incorporated, and schools across Tasmania and the Flinders Island Furneaux Festival

2018-2021	Art and Cultural Workshops for Reconciliation and Sorry Days in Kingston, Scottsdale in Tasmania
2021	Tarrawarra-WILAM BIK Yalingwa- Water Carriers for Exhibition
2021	Margaret Dodd Gallery, University of Melbourne, Breathing Space- 110 Water Carriers for Exhibition
2021	InCahoots, Art Workshop in Townsville
2018	Riverbend Park, Launceston, Tasmania, Launceston City Council, assisted in painting a Mural