

Pathway

- fits true to size and is perfect for low to medium volume feet
- Pathway is adjustable thanks to its instep- and heel-straps with hook and loop fasteners. However, their length is currently not suitable for higher volume feet.
- Pathway's sole is the same length as Seaside's, but slightly shorter than our closed shoe models'. For sandals, a lesser wiggle room (0.5 - 0.8 cm) in front of your toes is usually sufficient. Therefore, most customers can wear the same size in all our models.
- For customers who are usually between two Feelgrounds sizes, we recommend choosing the size according to their foot volume. If you have medium-volume feet, choose the larger size. If you have low-volume feet, choose the smaller size.

Check out our size chart and the two options below to determine your exact size in Feelgrounds:

Option 1: Measure your feet

You will need: A piece of paper, a pencil, and a ruler.

1. Place the paper on the ground against a wall.
2. Step onto the paper with your heel against the wall.
3. Draw a line where your longest toe ends. Measure the distance from the wall to the tip of your longest toe. Repeat with your other foot. You now have the length of your feet.
4. Please note: For sandals, less space in front of the toes is required than for closed shoes. Therefore, we recommend adding 0.5 - 0.8 cm (0.2 - 0.3 inches) to the length of your feet. Compare these measurements with our sole length and choose the ideal size for you. If you can't decide between two sizes, consider your foot volume. If your feet are low-volume, go for the smaller size. If your feet are high-volume, go for the bigger size.

Option 2: Print our Size Guide PDF

Print at 100%. No margins. You will find step-by-step instructions on the printout.
