pride of ownership. Beyond its good looks, Ultra Anchor is strong and efficient. Due to its unique self-righting design, Ultra Anchor always lands on the bottom in attack position, ready to dig deep into the bottom. Upon retrieval, the anchors precision design also allows it to automatically right itself as it aligns onto the bow roller, thus saving time and strain on your windlass.

Our Review

The ultra Anchor from Quickline is stainless Steel and has ballasted chamber to lower the center of gravity. Certainly the anchor was very stable with the ballast pushing the tip to dig in. Compared to a delta anchor the center of gravity did seem lower. The shaft is hollow further lowering the C of G.

Quickline offer a money back guarantee, as they are confident in its holding power.
