Food grade silicone is a non-toxic type of silicone that does not contain any chemical fillers or by-products, making it safe for use even with food. Contains no BPA, latex, lead, phthalates, and may be 100% recycled; non-hazardous waste

The Dogs with eyes the size of teacups from Andersen's fairy tale The Tinderbox

Beech wood, with eyes in walnut, brass or steel

Stainless steel is a green product that is 100% recyclable, as it is not coated with any toxic material. Its impact on the environment is minimal when compared to other materials

The brass industry throughout the world depends on the recycling of brass scrap for its survival, as making brass from new raw materials would be uneconomical and wasteful

Wood is a material that is both highly sustainable and practical from a cost perspective
