Bear Tamerlane HC-30

After 30 months of development—an incredible tournament bow! Now, from the laboratory of Bear's master bowyer, comes the most dramatic advance in bow construction since Bear introduced lamination—the High-Compression HC-30 Tamerlane! Designed only for the serious tournament archer, the HC-30 abandons traditional woods in handle and riser sections for a new, high-compression material—a material that signals the advent of new scoring records in tournament archery. The velvet-smooth, velvet-black handle section of the HC-30 has three major advantages:

★ 30% less recoil at point of contact with the hand! ★ 30% greater mass weight, scientifically redistributed for the ultimate in vibration dampening, balance, and stabilization! ★ Newly designed sight window cut $\frac{1}{8}$ " beyond center. This allows arrow placement at the very center of the bow . . . or, by adjusting the nylon arrow plate, on either side of center. HC-30—a slim, poised, shooting platform that's destined to rewrite the record books. See it!

The HC-30 is equipped with the Custom Bristle Rest and Adjustable Nylon Arrow Plate, and will accept the Premier Bowsight. (May be specially ordered without sight routing or decorative cover plate.)

Your Bear Tamerlane HC-30 comes to you in the luxurious L-981 bow case in jet black . . . a fitting companion. See page 21 for details.

Bear Tamerlane

A classic of modern archery! Let your eyes rove over Tamerlane's exciting lines and the breathtaking beauty of its Brazilian Rosewood. The ever-varying grain patterns. Balance this great bow in your hands. Then, draw and release. Experience the familiar firmness, the steadiness in the limbs—the feeling of eager, controlled power. Look closely at the new high-density caps on the forward stabilizers. They represent a major advance in the concept of bow weighting. Bear has conducted extensive and continuing research toward optimum bow performance. As a result Bear bowyers have strategically located new high-density material on the forward sections of the bow. This gives Tamerlane built-in stability through a scientifically-designed weight distribution. In addition, Tamerlane comes equipped with the handsome Bear Custom Bristle Rest and Adjustable Nylon Arrow Plate. And Bear Tamerlane will accept the Bear Premier Bowsight (see page 24). (If you wish, you can specially order your Bear Tamerlane without sight routing or decorative cover plate.) Even if you are not considering a purchase now, we invite you to look over the most beautifully crafted bow in the history of the bowyer's art. See it now at your Bear dealer's.

Bear Kodiak SPECIAL®

A new profile for a showpiece! Gilding the lily? Not at all! Bear has actually enhanced the beauty and performance of this magnificent tournament bow. For a start, we've changed the design of the built-in stabilization of the Bear Kodiak Special—to give you a faster, quieter, better shooting bow. Built in a new firmness, a new speed, a whole new “feel” for this prince of target bows. Some things have been too good to change, of course. The simple dramatic styling. The positive control grip that automatically positions your fingers (now accepted as the standard throughout archery). The eye-appealing (and highly functional) Bear Custom Bristle Rest and Adjustable Nylon Arrow Plate is standard on Bear Kodiak Special. At the left, you can see how this decorative cover plate joins with the rich grain patterns of Brazilian Bubinga and the Brazilian Rosewood Caps to create a distinguished effect. Bear Kodiak Special is, of course, routed to accept the Bear Premier Bowsight (see page 24). (You may, however, special-order a Bear Kodiak Special without sight routing or arrow plate.) Bear Kodiak®

All new for '65 . . . one of the two most popular hunting bows in the world!

Do you want toughness in a hunting bow? The Bear Kodiak takes heat and cold in stride—plus all the other rough usage encountered on the game trails.

Do you want accuracy in a hunting bow? Bear Kodiak proves itself where accuracy means the difference between trophy or a miss. It has downed elephant, lion, tiger, bear—proof not only of its accuracy but of its formidable power. Do you want smoothness in a hunting bow? Bear Kodiak has a draw like velvet. Balance? Heft it and see for yourself. Do you want beauty in a hunting bow? Let your eyes rove over the exciting new lines of this magnificent bow . . . the fascinating interplay of Bubinga and Brazilian Rosewood. Fred Bear designed the Bear Kodiak on the game trails of the world. In blinds. On stalks. Around campfires at night. Kodiak is Fred Bear's personal bow. The Kodiak (under 50 lbs.) can be routed, on order, to accept the Bear Hunting Bowsight (see page 24). Bear Kodiak[®] MAGNUM

The other most popular hunting bow in the world! It's easy to see why. You're in a tightly-spaced blind or crawling through thick brush. Suddenly, just ahead is your quarry. Right then and there, you want a short bow with power to spare! Bear Kodiak Magnum. You want a bow that stands up under rain or snow, heat or cold. A bow that's equally effective during all four seasons of the year. Bear Kodiak Magnum. You want a bow you can show off. A bow with fine lines and the handsome grain patterns and hues of Bubinga and Brazilian Rosewood. Bear Kodiak Magnum. This sturdy bantam has other pluses, too. The bowhunter's grip that positions your fingers correctly and automatically. A soft leather arrow pad. And a Bearhair arrow rest for drawing and releasing with less than a whisper. Bear Kodiak Magnum is light in your hand—for all of its ruggedness. Featherlight for instant shooting . . . standing, kneeling, crouching or sitting. Even when packing for a hunting trip, you'll appreciate the 52" length of Bear Kodiak Magnum! A bantam with a giant's strength and power! See the Kodiak Magnum—now at your Bear dealer's.

Bear Polar[®]

Class of a champion . . . champion of its class! In the Polar for '65, Bear master bowyers have wedded beauty with function for a timeless, matchless design. They've produced a splendid tournament bow, with the speed, accuracy, and stability normally associated only with most expensive bows. They've added striking white glass, setting off the rich grain patterns of Bubinga and African Bengalwood. And they've added a new 63" model, identical in beauty and performance to the standard 66" Polar, for you archers who've always wanted Polar, but prefer a slightly shorter draw. New tropical hardwoods! New white glass! Extra-long center-cut sight window! New 63" model! Bear Polar is all-new for '65. Both Bear Polars come equipped with the decorative Bear Custom Bristle Rest and Adjustable Nylon Arrow Plate. (However, you can specially order a Polar without sight routing or arrow plate.) Bear Grizzly®

The versatile hunting bow that's at home anywhere—under any conditions!

The Bear Grizzly is as tough and powerful as its name. Take it out in any kind of weather: rain, snow, blazing heat or biting winter cold. Bear Grizzly is impervious to the elements—an all-weather bow in the fullest sense of the word. Take it out after any kind of game: rabbits, varmints, whitetails, muleys or bear. The Bear Grizzly downs them all. Take it out into brush, woods, or open country, into flatlands or mountains. Bear Grizzly works equally well in any terrain. There's nothing soft or frail about Bear Grizzly. Bear Grizzly comes practically camouflaged as is. Its Forest Brown glass complements the African Zebrawood so that the bow blends into the hunting terrain. In addition, the Bear Grizzly offers a Bearhair arrow rest for a smooth, silent draw. Soft leather arrow pad. The sturdy limb that stands up under rugged field use. The clean lines of its design. (No frills. No fads.) The acclaimed "bowhunter's grip." In the Bear Grizzly, you find a "no-nonsense" hunting bow of power and accuracy. See the Bear Grizzly—now at your Bear dealer's.

Bear Bearcat®

An all-'round bow for range or field! Want to go hunting? Or, would you rather try your hand at tournament archery? Or, do you prefer field archery? It really doesn't make any difference because Bearcat is equally effective at all three sports. Popular-priced Bearcat has the stamina of a hunting bow—the beauty and precise accuracy of a tournament bow. The design is all-new in '65. New, eye-catching lines. A new, sensitive feel and balance. A new ease of handling. You'll get new enjoyment from the '65 Bearcat. The modified thumb rest guides your fingers to the correct grip. The full-sight window makes it easier to put your arrows where you want them. Enhancing your thrill of ownership is the rich beauty of African Mansonia. Bearcat is the 3-in-1 bow for the archer who enjoys variety in his shooting. That's why Bear bowyers feel that Bearcat offers you outstanding value for your money—in performance, beauty, ease of handling, and versatility! Even the white glass—usually found in higher-priced bows—adds a touch of luxury! See the Bear Bearcat—now at your Bear dealer's.

Bear Bow Quivers

The best thing that's happened to bowhunting since Fred Bear invented Razorheads®!

These latest models of Fred Bear's own design snap-on and off your bow instantly. The 8-arrow model (L-640) allows you to carry a full day's load of arrows. The 4-arrow model (L-645) is preferred by some hunters who like its lighter weight, or who use it in combination with a back quiver.

L-640 8-arrow model is made in three sizes:

L-640S (short) fits most hunting bows from 52" up to 60". Works best on the short Kodiak® Magnum-type bow.

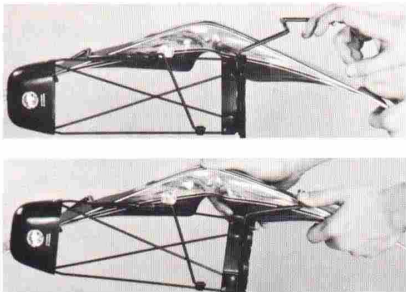

L-640R (regular) fits bows from 60" to 64". Works best on medium-length hunting bows such as Kodiak and Grizzly® types.

L-640L (long) fits hunting-type bows from 60" to 66", and works best on Bearcat type bows.

L-645 4-arrow model is made in two sizes:

L-645S (short) fits most short risered hunting bows from 56" down.

L-645R (regular) fits most hunting bows from 54" to 66".

The Fred Bear Bow Quivers mount and detach from your strung bow quickly, easily and smoothly. Bracket wires are coated to protect bow finish.

Fred Bear Advises You On Progressive Outfitting!

There is a great difference in the archery tackle requirements of the archer who shoots for recreation and the one who aspires to be a champion, or between the roving stump shooter and the big game trophy hunter.

You and your family can enjoy years of recreational shooting with a modest outfit such as a Cub Bow, a Spartan Armguard, Master Glove, and a Mohican Quiver. The Cub is a composite bow (laminated of wood and fiberglass) and as such has the feel and action of the best bows—tremendous performance for the money. Wooden arrows of cedar such as the Standard Grade are the best for the first few weeks of shooting, when arrows have a habit of disappearing. Soon you will want more closely spine-matched High Grades or even spine and weight matched Top Grades which are even more accurate.

As your shooting improves you'll need that extra help better equipment can give. Graduate to A-20 arrows and a Polar® Bow or even better the famed Kodiak® Special. At this time, you will be doing enough shooting to appreciate the convenience of a Tournament Quiver and the smoothness of a Pro Glove.

Finally, when you're ready to go after those Championship scores, let the Tamerlane help you. The Tamerlane is designed and proven to give you every assist possible—balance, stability, speed and the Positive Position Grip. Tamerlane with matched Bear Easton or glass arrows will actually smooth out the variations in your shooting technique to give you the tightest groups on target possible. As an experienced archer, you will know which Bear accessories complement your style to improve your score. You might find that the ultra-clean release of a fresh Pre-furred Tab and the loose, stable grip permitted by a bow sling adds the 10 points between first and fourth place. And since good shots are notoriously hard on nocks, you will probably want a Trophy Quiver to carry a good supply of fresh arrows so you can finish a full day's shooting.

Of course the finest equipment improves the accuracy of any shooter. If you know archery is your game and know the weight bow you want to shoot, you will learn faster and gain confidence quicker starting with the best.

Selecting Recreational and Tournament Equipment

For recreational and tournament shooting you must select a bow that you can hold easily. If you have never shot a bow before, a good rule of thumb is to buy a bow which you can hold at full draw for 10 seconds. A little tremor is all right, but if you start to shake, the bow is too heavy. The muscles used for archery will develop quickly. With two weeks of 30-minutes-a-day practice, you can hold the proper weight bow comfortably all day long. If you have shot before and your muscles have already developed, better buy a bow you can hold without shaking for 20 seconds.

For accurate shooting, the arrow must match your bow weight. If an arrow matches the bow properly it snakes around the bow when it is shot. It actually doesn't touch the bow except for the first inch or so of travel. The most important factor in this fitting is stiffness. This is why all Bear arrows are matched in spine (stiffness). The more expensive the arrows, the closer they are matched, until the ultimate, Bear Eastons, which are precisely uniform in stiffness, weight distribution, center of gravity, diameter and wall thickness. The weight of the bow the arrows match is written on the end label of the box. The length is also noted.

Buy an arrow long enough to let you stretch out when drawing. To determine arrow length come to full draw, (fingers in the corner of your mouth and bow arm straight) stretch out and have someone measure the distance from your fingers to the far side of the bow. You may find that as you develop and smooth out your shooting form your draw increases. Buy arrows long enough, but don't overdo it. Unnecessary length means extra weight that robs you of velocity.

Roving is the Carefree Sport

If your heart is in the woods and fields, roving may be your meat . . . the glorious, carefree sport of wandering through the woods shooting at any interesting, safe target. Bagging small game, should they appear, isn't against the rules by any means. (Check hunting laws in your state.) For a start, the Bear Cub does a wonderful job in the field, but you will want a large back quiver such as the Texan to hold an assortment of field point, blunt and broadhead arrows. A Master Glove and a Hunter Armguard (to hold loose clothing tight to your arm) will complete the required tackle except for the missiles. Wooden arrows cost less, but accuracy counts here, too.

Money buys accuracy in arrows, and if your area is such that you don't lose many arrows, the durability of the A-20 makes it the most economical . . . as well as terrifically accurate. About the only thing that will break an A-20 is side-slapping a tree or other objects.

As your shooting improves and the hunter in you emerges, you will want to step up to the Grizzly®. You will want a quiver that keeps your arrows silent and ready for use as the Huntsman Quiver or the Fred Bear Bow Quiver does.

Selecting the Hunting Equipment

Finally the opportunity comes for big game hunting: fox, deer, elk, moose, bear or what have you. Now, you will have to carefully plan the proper equipment around the type of country, the weather, and the hunting conditions.

The power packed Kodiak® is my first choice, unless I am shooting from a tree, blind, boat or other such close quarters. Then I use a Kodiak® Magnum. The convenience of this little beauty in this type of hunting makes the choice of the Magnum more than worthwhile. Durable, accurate A-20's are a must. If brush will be a problem, the Fred Bear Bow Quiver will allow you to carry your arrows through without a thought, and arrows can't be any handier for that second shot. If you anticipate much rain, the St. Charles Quiver will keep your arrows dry as well as sharp and quiet. By this time you will appreciate the positive position of the Pro Cordovan glove.

Men should not hunt big game with bows of less than 45 pounds. Few people come ready equipped with muscles to handle a bow of this weight, but any normal person under sixty can develop a physique to handle this weight and much more.

No one will ever develop to shoot heavier bows by practicing with lighter ones. One could shoot a 40 pound bow for years and never be able to handle a fifty-pound weight. Muscles are developed by overworking them and breaking them down. The human body responds by rushing reserves in larger numbers than are needed and the muscles are built up stronger.

Obtain a bow of proper hunting weight. Shoot it until you become too tired to hold it back at full draw. You may shoot only a dozen arrows and these only two at a time for several days.

On the third day, shoot again, but only two or three arrows at a time. Perhaps eighteen can be shot at this time.

I cannot over-emphasize the danger of developing bad habits when working out with a heavy bow. This can be prevented by being certain that every shot is taken at a full and extended draw and that at least a second or two is taken for aiming.

Continue exercise every other day. An average person can, in this way, develop himself to handle as much as 60 to 70 pounds, which is the most anyone needs for the largest of big game. Not everyone will want to put this much into archery hunting but any archer can easily work into a 50 pound bow, which is satisfactory for deer, black bear or other animals of this size.

Whatever your inclinations are, you'll find pleasure and satisfactions in the interesting sport of archery.

Three exciting developments from Bear to enhance the performance of your Bear Bow

Fred Bear Premier Bowsight S-150 . . . $19.95

Bear bowyers have designed the Fred Bear Premier Bowsight to be an integral part of your Bear Bow.

The Adjustable Nylon Arrow Plate allows you to tune your bow to the spine of arrows used and to your individual style of shooting.

The adjustable aperture slide on your Bear Premier Bowsight lets you adjust to windage in seconds. You adjust to elevation equally fast with the Bowsight's unique slide receiver and graduated sighting bar.

The Bear Premier Bowsight comes equipped with the S-162 Standard Post and S-167 Bristle Rest as standard equipment. The Fred Bear Premier Bowsight comes in both 5" and 7" lengths.

In addition, you have a wide choice of accessory apertures and arrow rests. (See Optional Accessories, this page.)

Bear Premier Hunting Sight S-175 . . . $19.95

A remarkable new innovation from Bear puts accuracy into your hunting. Part of the very design of your hunting bow, the Bear Premier Hunting Sight is a 5" sight with S-167 Bristle Rest and three fluorescent rings—mounted one above the other. You preset a different yardage into each of these fluorescent rings. Thus, you go into the woods prepared to shoot from three known distances without having to adjust your sight. A wide choice of accessory apertures and rests are available. Additional fluorescent ring assemblies may be installed (S-180). (See Optional Accessories, this page.)

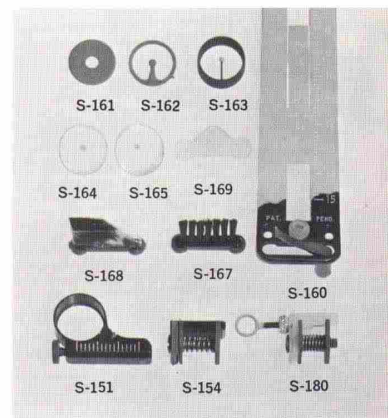

Replacement Parts

Replacement parts for the Bear Bowsights and Premier Arrow Rest are available from: Your local authorized Bear dealer, or Bear Archery Company, Rural Route One, Grayling, Michigan.

Bear Premier Arrow Rest S-190 . . . $3.75

The new Bear Premier Arrow Rest combines the Bear Adjustable Nylon Arrow Plate and the Bear Bristle Rest. The adjustable arrow plate permits you to actually "tune" your bow—adjusting it to your arrows and your individual shooting style. And the distinguished design of this new combination rest enriches the appearance of your bow. This attractive arrow rest fits any bow. Comes with instructions for installing. A wide choice of accessories are also available. (See Optional Accessories, below.)

How To Order A Bear Bow

Tell your Bear dealer your height, weight, age, whether you are right- or left-handed, and whether you want tackle for hunting, target, or both. If no dealer is nearby, write us.

Prices are f.o.b. Grayling within the U. S. A. up to $150.00, and subject to change without notice. (Prices f.o.b. destination for orders over $150.00). Unless satisfactory credit references are furnished, material will be shipped C.O.D. Minimum order $5.00. (Michigan residents only: if you send check with order, allow for 4% sales tax.) Dealers are requested to use Bear order blanks whenever possible.

Important: Normal Parcel Post restrictions do not apply to parcels being shipped to a RFD address. These packages may weigh up to 70 lbs. and have a maximum size of 100" (length plus girth).

Bear Guarantee

For Those Who Want The Finest

Every Bear Bow is numbered and accompanied by a registration card which must be filled out and mailed by the purchaser or his Bear Dealer within 10 days after date of purchase. Should failure occur in a bow so registered within a period of six months after date of purchase, the Bear Archery Company will make free repair, or replacement if repair is not feasible, unless the bow shows evidence of mis-use or improper handling. Claimant must be the original owner and bow serial number must be intact.

Note: Adhesive tapes "cure" with age. We cannot be responsible for bow damage caused by tape.

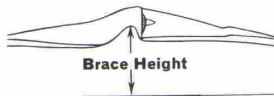

After six months and up to one year after the purchase date and provided the bow has not been mis-used or mishandled, repair or replacement will be made for 25% of the list purchase price. From one year to 1½ years after purchase date, the charge will be 50% of the purchase price. From 1½ to two years, the charge will be 75% of the purchase price. From two years to three years, the charge will be 90% of the purchase price.

No adjustment will be made until the damaged bow is returned to the factory for inspection. Replacement will be made with a bow of the same model and weight, as near as possible. This guarantee is valid only when purchase has been made through an Authorized Bear Dealer. Dealers are not authorized to make adjustments, but they will be glad to handle the shipping and correspondence for you.

How To Take Care Of Your Bow

Take care of your bow . . . while not in use, keep your bow unstrung. Hang it vertically or lay it across pegs supporting both limbs. Keep it in a bow case in a cool, dry spot.

When used in rain or snow, wipe dry before storing. In cold weather, flex bow several times to "warm it up." Occasionally, apply a light coat of furniture wax to protect finish.

To measure brace height (fistmele), measure at right angles to the string from the deepest cut in the handle on the face of the bow, below the arrow shelf.

The proper brace height for you depends somewhat on your style of shooting. Brace your new bow at the lowest point that will give you:

1. Freedom from excessive wrist slap.
2. Minimum noise and vibration when shooting.
3. An arrow that does not wobble in flight.

Stringing your Recurved Bows

Place bow handle under thigh, lower tip across front of opposite ankle. Raise heel to keep tip off ground. Apply pressure against recurve, not bow tip. Slip upper loop into nock, while watching string alignment on lower recurve.

Or . . .

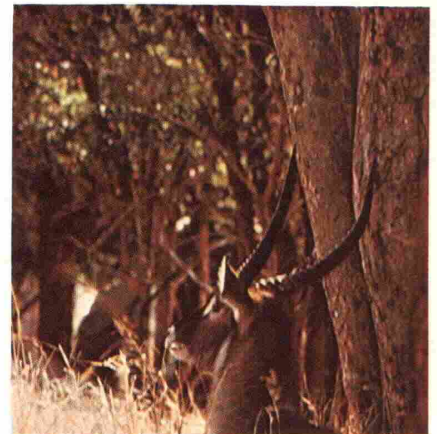

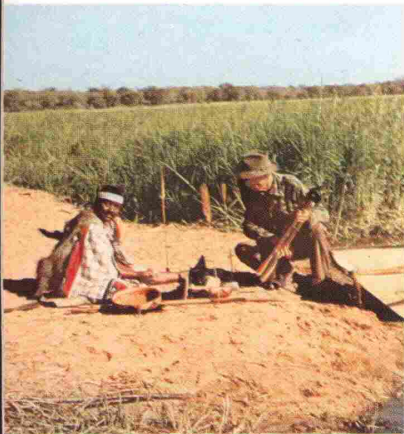

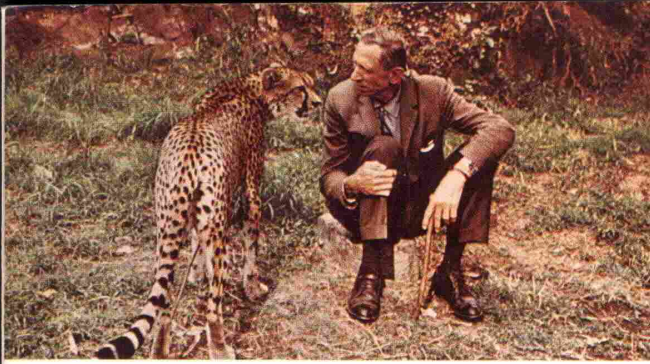

especially for the ladies, use the new Pal Bowstringer. Just stand on the cord after attaching it to your bow. The bow tips bend as you pull up—ready for easy, safe stringing. For more information on the Pal Bowstringer, see page 29.
