

Stoneware Colour Options

NATURAL WHITE

A warm creamy white stoneware with very small flecks of grey/black within it.

TAN

A warm tan stoneware with small brown/black flecks within it. Kiln kissed marks and tonal bands are common.

RUST

A warm reddish stoneware whose tone can vary from a dark red-orange to a burnt copper brown.

NOTE: The representation of colours and textures are limited by technology, lighting, photography and may vary due to screen settings.

There can be slight variations in colour between and within each piece. It's all part of the natural amazingness of the clay that we absolutely love, but we always want to be clear about the handmade quality.
