COCKLES AND MUSSELSIn Dublin is a fair city where girls are so beautiful, I first set my eyes to the sweet Molly Malone, She wheeled her wheel mound, through the streets wide and narrow, crying shells and mussels alive, alive! Live, alive! Live, alive! Crying shells and mussels are alive, alive! She was a fish merchant, but it sure is not surprising, for so were her father and mother before, and each of them wheeled their mound, through the streets wide and narrow, weeping shells and mussels alive, alive! Live, alive! Live, alive! Crying shells and mussels are alive, alive! She died of a fever, and no one could save her, and that was the end of Molly Malone's sweet; But her ghost wheels her mound, through the streets wide and mussels are alive, alive!
