After the main piece is set within the Blade Setter, take the top piece and put that back on top into original, centered position. Take your thumb to push that top blade to the top end of the frame, holding it there firmly while you take your screwdriver and tighten the two screws.

STEP THREE

STEP ONE
Take either your Andis TL100 Blade (or your Andis Outliner II Blade) and loosen up both of the screws that are on your blade, it will begin to move around freely. Remove top piece, fully.

STEP TWO
Take Blade Setter and slide the blade, center and aligned within the given frame. Once centered, clip the blade within the blade frame - it will snap into place, fitting perfectly.

STEP FIVE

Once the screws are tightened, turn the Blade Setter sideways - holding the bottom end tip with the left hand's index and thumb. Just simply snap the blade out of the Blade Setter, by pulling back the snap release tab with the right hand's index and thumb. It will pop right out. Remove the Blade Setter and look at the blade, it will then be adjusted perfectly.
