SPOT COLORS

All print collateral, including business cards, letterhead, notecards, notepads, envelopes, and signage may use offset printing with pantone colors specified here in the library for ideal color consistency. The spot logo is also ideal for screen printing materials. Note: PMS colors (spot colors) are not accurate on-screen. The pantone book is the best way to view how the color will print.

PROCESS COLORS

For CMYK full color printing materials, such as company folder, flyers, and banners, please use the CMYK logo. The CMYK logo may also be used for print collateral if printing digitally.

WEB COLORS

Colors may not be consistent when printing digitally. The web reference color above is used for website design and development as well as digital marketing, including email marketing, social media, and web ads.

BRAND GUIDELINES

UNACCEPTABLE USES AND SAFETY AREAS

The KDE CAN logo should always stand apart from its surroundings. It should maintain a clear area equal to the height between the bottom of the "E" and the bottom of the crossbar on the "E" around logo to protect the visual integrity of the mark.

The following examples illustrate incorrect uses of the logo. Although numerous incorrect uses might be possible, these are intended to show common examples of improper use.
