"The Root Chakra symbolises being grounded and fearless - which I really admire."

/ PIERNY MUNTON

Prices starting from | £25

In response to the pandemic, we curated a range that encouraged self-care and mindfulness.

It's been a tough year for everybody, so we wanted to include pieces that could be bought as a gift for a special person in need of some love, or for yourself - a reminder it's okay to put yourself first sometimes!

We worked closely with suppliers on designs and materials, so this range also feels very personal.

Unlike many of the brand names you might know, our range is made with solid gold, not plated. This means the pieces will always be worth their weight in gold, making them a gift that keeps on giving!

Chakra Red CZ | £90

Zodiac Pendant | £85

Agate Ring | £125

It's hard to select favourites...but my first pick is the 9ct yellow gold 'Root Chakra' necklace.

What I love about all the Chakra necklaces is the size of the pendant makes it easy to appreciate its beauty. The addition of coloured stones are symbolic of each Chakra's power, they become extra personal if you have a connection with a particular colour too -like I do with red CZ as it's the same colour as ruby, my birthstone.

My next pick has to be the stunning 9ct yellow gold zodiac pendants. These can be thrown on to any chain you've got so if you're like me and constantly switching between a curb, rope, figaro etc it's the perfect accessory. We have all 12 zodiac signs, I'm a cancer so mine is the pendant that symbolises the crab. These are made from solid gold and have beautiful frosting of CZ around the edge making it glisten in the light.

"Usually I like to be covered in gold jewellery, but when I wear this ring I skimp on my other gold pieces."

My final pick is the 9ct yellow gold agate ring. The stone on this ring is a whopping 5.4ct and is such a beautiful green colour - it's a real show stopper. The design is asymmetric which gives it a really unique look. Usually I like to be covered in gold jewellery, but when I wear this ring I skimp on my other gold pieces as it really is a feature piece.
