FAQs for Occupational Therapists

Why should I consider The Purr-Low™ as an aid for sensory needs?

At The Purr-Low™, we understand the challenges that children with ASD face in processing sensory information, which can often lead to anxiety and stress. That's why we designed The Purr-Low™ with them in mind, to provide a soothing experience that can help alleviate these symptoms.

Made with premium quality faux fur and a bespoke purring function, it provides the soft and huggable texture of a cat. Its 1.5-kilo weight provides a comforting sensation, similar to a weighted blanket, which can help with stress, anxiety, and sleep problems. It's a versatile tool for sensory integration, perfect for students who need extra support at home or in school.

We believe that The Purr-Low™ can be a valuable addition to your sensory toolkit, providing children with the comfort and support they need that can be taken anywhere, providing comfort and sensory support on the go.

What materials are used to make The Purr-Low™?

The Purr-Low™ is carefully crafted by hand in Melbourne, Australia using premium quality faux fur made with a 100% acrylic blend fabric that can withstand frequent use. Each pillow is filled with small lightweight beads or polyethylene filling, weighing approximately 1.5 kilos. The self-contained sound box is powered by three 1.5V AAA batteries, and when activated, the bespoke purr is designed to last approximately 75 seconds. With ten different colors available, there is an option to suit any personal preference, making it a perfect fit for sensory seekers.

Warning: Please note that while our products are safe for use for all ages, small lightweight beads can pose a severe danger to children if swallowed or inhaled.
