CONGRATULATIONS on your Clearance / Open Box Titan Outdoor TV. A clearance / Open Box Titan Outdoor TV went through the same process as a new unused Titan Outdoor TV but with much more of an affordable cost. Each TV was custom built by hand in altering a normal TV into an outdoor TV by taking each unit apart and weatherproofing it with NanoFlowX nanocoating technology that makes the components waterproof and protected from humidity, moisture, and corrosion, not only that but we also have exterior protection without making it look like we did anything to the TV. This is what makes a Titan Outdoor TV last in rain or shine. In some cases, clearance / Open Box Titan Outdoor TVs may have imperfections or just used in tradeshow, but each TV is tested before shipping to ensure you get a well operating Titan Outdoor TV.

Please keep this record along with your warranty in a safe place in case you need to refer back to this. Please read and follow the warranty and instructions.

WARNING:

Any unauthorized change or modifications to this unit that is not approved by the manufacturer will void the warranty. Since we modified the TV, we are now carrying out the warranty. Please refer to our warranty to see what is covered and not covered.

WARNING:

The AC or power surge should not be plugged within ten (10) feet of any water source or operating within the same distance.

WARNING:

All TVs must be installed in a GFCI outlet for ground according to your state laws for outlets placed outdoors. All GFCI outlets must be rated for outdoor use or warranty is voided.

WARNING:

All TVs not only must be plugged into a GFCI rated for outdoors, but also must be plugged into a surge protector rated for your area, and outdoors to protect them from power surges. (Please note a power strip bar is not a surge protector)

WARNING:

Do not have power cords laying on the ground or where water might have access to it. Please follow city and state regulations on installing electricity outdoors.

WARNING:

Any Titan Outdoor TV is not under any circumstances able to be submerged in any liquid in any form of way.

WARNING:

Do not leave remote control outdoors, place indoors and away from water source and swimming pools.

WARNING:

Do not operate any Titan Outdoor TV during the following for safety reasons: Rain, Electrical Storms, Dust Storms, Hurricane or Hailstorms. Unplug the unit when the following occurs.

WARNING:

Ventilation is a must for the TV to breathe from the back and bottom. The Titan Outdoor TV could overheat and cause long term damage.

WARNING:

Do not poke holes or have this unit rub against any edges that can cause the seal to break that will lead to the warranty to be voided. Should this occur contact us immediately to have this unit saved and or repaired at possibly no cost, minus the shipping.

WARNING:

If your unit comes with metal studs used for mounting, do not remove. This is used to prevent water from entering the unit and filling it like a pool inside. All mounting specs are VESA approved, and any mount should work just fine for your size of TV.

CLEANING:

To clean your Titan outdoor TV, we recommend that you use only a microfiber soft cloth and glass cleaner without ammonia ingredients or those that are labeled LED screen cleaner.

TABLETOP SET UP:

Only use a Titan Outdoor TV that is 50" or smaller as a tabletop and must be protected with safety gear to prevent the unit from falling, anything larger will be too dangerous since winds can be strong enough to knock it over and cause serious damage and serious injury to someone. There is zero warranty if used as tabletop of any unit larger than 50" and Titan Outdoor TVs will not be responsible for any damage or injury. This would be considered as improper installation in which nothing is covered.

INSTALLATION AND OPERATION FOR TITAN OUTDOOR TV

Mounting your unit on a wall using a wall mount:

Inside each mounting kit (purchased separately) are set of screws with different sizes and thicknesses. Find the right set of screws that when installing them in the back of the TV it mounts flush to the backing, never use the oversized screws that are longer than the back of the TV. If your unit comes with metal studs, do not remove them just use the smallest set of screws that come with the kit and it should be fine.

It is highly recommended that you mount your Titan Outdoor TV possibly in a shaded area and away from hi impact area zones. Titan Outdoor TVs can be used in direct sun in most cases, but you will get the best picture results when in the shade. As for the high impact areas, our TVs are not designed to take impacts but to give a great picture.

Just like cars your TV will last longer when they are in a protected area and placed out of the sun for long term. We recommend that you get cover for your Titan Outdoor TV through a third-party provider like Amazon or online e-commerce.

If your Titan Outdoor TV must be placed in the open without a shade or cover over it, it's best to place the TV facing away from the sun as sun rays can get powerful enough to overheat the screens and shut down till cooled. This is self-protection that is installed with the TV to prevent long term damage.

When any outdoor TV is installed in direct sunlight you will notice it will not be the same as an indoor tv quality, this is because the picture is trying to overcome the brightness levels that prevent the human eye from seeing colors in direct sunlight. So its best to have some kind of shade if when possible to be installed.

Please refer to the original paperwork of the manufacture that is in the box.
