

Moore MedTech's Covid-19 Testing Programme at Co-op Angel Square

About Co-op

One Angel Square is home to the Co-operative Group head office, where over 3,000 employees are located under the same roof. The Co-op offer a range of products and services from food to funeral care. The essential nature of their work makes regular testing for Covid-19 crucial if they are to minimise disruption to their operations and prevent infection spreading at the workplace.

“

QUICK EASY PROCESS. I WANT TO MAKE SURE I'M STAYING SAFE WHEN AROUND MY FAMILY - WILL

”

The Problem

1 in 3 individuals who have the Covid-19 virus are asymptomatic, meaning they do not display any symptoms. With such a large number of employees sharing the same building, Co-op needed to keep viral transmission to a minimum and ensure that their employees felt safe when coming into the workplace. They felt it was their responsibility to have a testing facility on-site where employees could get a rapid Covid-19 test but did not know how to effectively implement this solution.

“

GREAT GUIDANCE. IT'S NICE TO HAVE SOMEONE TALKING YOU THROUGH IT AS I'M NEVER SURE WHETHER I'M DOING IT RIGHT! - LAURA

”

The Solution

Co-op selected Moore MedTech to set up and manage a Covid-19 testing facility at their Manchester headquarters. One of their conference rooms was transformed into a testing site complete with testing booths, one way system and a stock of lateral flow test kits and PPE. Employees were given the opportunity to visit the facility and get tested whenever they liked and were guided through the process by nursing professionals. This ensured that they felt confident when taking their test and could ask for support if they needed it. The feedback from the Co-op employees was extremely positive, as shown here in the blue quote boxes.

The testing programme successfully allowed Co-op to identify asymptomatic individuals and remove them from the workplace before others were infected.

“

THE TESTING PROCESS WAS QUICK AND PROFESSIONAL. I WASN'T SURE WHAT TO EXPECT BUT IT WAS SO SIMPLE! THE STAFF WERE REALLY FRIENDLY - ZOE

”

To find out more about our testing solutions, visit our website:

www.mooremedtech.co.uk