RECYCLING

HOW TO RECYCLE

- CHECK: Before preparing a box or other cardboard material for recycling, make sure it is recyclable! Most cardboard and paper can be recycled when clean and free of plastics but plastics must be checked more closely.
- SEPARATE: Make sure that your paper and cardboard are separated from your recyclable plastics as they must be processed differently by recycling centres.
- KEEP RECYCLING AND WASTE BINS CLOSE: Make it as easy as possible for you and your staff to make good decisions by having recycling bins located close to the waste bins.
- CLEAR & CONSISTENT RECYCLING LABELS: Ensure all recycling bins are labelled as clearly as possible with words or graphics to ensure the correct disposal of packaging.
- KEEP IT DRY: Cardboard and paper needs to be dry to be processed and recycled correctly. When recycling cardboard, make sure it can be kept dry before it's collected.
- BREAK IT DOWN: It's always best practice to break down and flatten any recyclable materials. Whole cardboard boxes and packaging can take up a lot of space and quickly fill up your bin.

HOW PAPER IS MADE AND RECYCLED

- Paper is created from a variety of woodchips and wood pulp, some of which would ordinarily be disposed of and serve no further purpose.
- These materials are steamed and pulped, and then spread to dry before they get cut to the desired shape.
- The paper is then ready to be transported and assembled into bags.
- Once the bags have been assembled, distributed, and used by the consumer, they can then be returned to be recycled.
- The paper is broken back down into a pulp and, depending on the plant, either reformed into new sheets of paper, or combined with other raw material and then reformed.
- The paper is then ready to begin the whole process all over again!

TYPES OF CORRUGATED CARDBOARD

FLUTES:

Flutes give strength and structure to cartons, serving as a protector, insulator and cushioning device.

E-FLUTE

E-flute is ideal for high quality printing with a thickness of 1.4mm. It is generally used for mailers and some specialty displays like the beer and wine cases.

F-FLUTE

F-flute is half as thick as E-flute making it our lightest packaging option. Since this has the largest number of flutes per foot, it also allows for the most accurate folding operations. You'll see F-flute offered in our smallest sizes.

B-FLUTE

B-flute is a good alternative to E-flute when wanting to support heavier items. With a thickness of 3.175mm and shorter flutes, this type of box still provides a rigid, flat surface for printing.

C-FLUTE

C-flute is commonly used for shippers. The flutes are taller here at 4.36mm, giving C-flute somewhat better cushioning properties than B-flute.
