fresh fabrics for spring a fabric review

by LINDSEY MURRAY

If you love fabric as much as we do, then you can't get enough of it! New fabric collections are being released all the time, and it can be a real challenge to keep up with the latest trends, designers, and collections. The following are just a few of our favorites from the latest releases!

MONSTERZ

by Michéle Brummer-Everett, Cloud 9 fabrics

This collection, which features cute little monster characters, is a must-have. In bright greens, pinks, oranges, and grays, the line depicts little monster-like figures in various settings. When asked about the fabrics, Brummer-Everett explained that each character has a story and personality. This gender-neutral line is just fabulous for all of your own little monsters!

THIS FABRIC IS FOR YOU IF: You like cute monsters, you want to create something fun for a child in your life, or if you just love fun, whimsical designs.

TAALI

by Jennifer Moore, Mona Luna

This fabric, which was inspired by a trip to Scandinavia, is so much fun. The collection features different graphics that all tie into each other in surprising ways. Don't miss the "bah bah black sheep" print. Not only is this fabric adorable, it is GOTS certified organic.

THIS FABRIC IS FOR YOU IF: You like bold graphics, you want to make something for a baby or young child (boy or girl), or if you are looking for great organic fabrics!
