

Our Essential Summer Skincare products for 2023

TheLussorian

03/07/2023

Skincare

Who doesn't love a bit of sun, and we've had plenty of it of late. We're constantly being reminded to take better care of our skin and avoid harmful rays when possible, and rightly so. So to prepare you for the holidays, we've scouted out 6 of our fave skincare products, and shared our experiences below. Happy holidays.

The Natural Africa Resurrection Moisturiser (50ml)

First up, and suitable for any skin type, this product will change your life. From unsmooth or bumpy skin to gorgeous smooth pores, Resurrection Moisturiser uses active botanicals (Resurrection Plant, Aloe Ferox, Mongongo, Baobab, and African Mahogany) to revive and protect your skin.

When applied just before bed, this product has helped me no end with unsightly spots, and leaves my skin feeling flawless. It has a lovely clean and natural/organic smell to it, and when applied, stays greasy for just a short while before absorbing, leaving the smoothest skin

According to the product marketing "The formula is rich in phenolic compounds, flavonoids, terpenoids, and bioflavonoids like robustaflavone that work together to promote rapid hydration, skin cell production, and protect the skin from environmental stressors".

With a price point around the £95 mark, this is premium purchase, but rest assured this will go a very long way indeed.

How to use:

Step 1: Cleanse your skin in the morning and evening, and follow up with a serum that's suitable for your skin type.

Step 2: Wait for a few minutes to allow the serum to absorb and for your skin to dry completely.

Step 3: Once your skin is dry, apply an appropriate amount of the Resurrection moisturiser to your face and neck, using gentle upward motions. Massage the moisturiser into your skin until it's fully absorbed.

Available from Skindays