"My skin loves a good facial oil, it's usually the last step of my evening skincare routine and I wake up in the morning with the juiciest, plumpiest looking skin, ready for the anything. It's like the easiest form of makeup prep, a dewy and smooth canvas for makeup. I adore The Natural Africa Rosehip oil, it's incredible lightweight, it's sinks into the skin almost immediately and you can also use for your hair and body. I love it for facial massages, it has enough slip to really work the skin without it feeling greasy. The formula is rich in natural vitamin C, and when I do use it, my skin is on point, glowing and brighter than when I forgot to use it."
