The Curve of Time

M. WYLIE BLANCHET, WITH AN ESSAY BY EDITH IGLAUER

A beloved and bestselling Pacific Northwest classic, now available in paperback from Harbour Publishing!

WIDOWED AT THE AGE of thirty-five, Muriel Wylie Blanchet packed up her five children in the summers that followed and set sail aboard the twenty-five-foot Caprice. For fifteen summers, in the 1920s and 1930s, the family explored the coves and islands of the BC coast, encountering settlers and hermits, hungry bears and dangerous tides, and falling under the spell of the region's natural beauty.

Driven by curiosity, the family followed the quiet coastline, and Blanchet—known as Capi, after her boat—recorded their wonder as they threaded their way between the snowfields, slept under the bright stars and wandered through Indigenous winter villages left empty in the summer months.

The Curve of Time weaves the story of these years into a memoir that has inspired generations to seek out their own adventures on the wild West Coast. First published in 1961, less than a year before the author died, Blanchet's captivating work has become a classic of travel writing, and one of the bestselling BC books of all time.

Now available from Harbour Publishing, this new edition contains maps of the Pacific Northwest coast showing the journeys of the Caprice as well as an essay on the life and biography of Blanchet by celebrated writer Edith Iglauer.

M. WYLIE BLANCHET (1891-1961) was born in Montreal and spent her childhood as an avid seeker of the natural world. Her adventurous and independent spirit led to extraordinary summers with her children exploring the coastal wilderness of British Columbia, and her recollections of the landscape have earned her memoir a place in Canadian literature as an enthralling West Coast must-read. Her children's book, A Whale Named Henry, was published posthumously by Harbour Publishing in 1983. Blanchet passed away at her home near Sidney, BC, at the age of seventy.

The Last Logging Show

A Forestry Family at the End of an Era

AARON WILLIAMS

A third-generation British Columbia logger returns to the forests of Haida Gwaii, to witness a way of life in the grip of change.

BY THE TIME AARON Williams began learning how to fall a tree, his family had been making clear cuts on BC hillsides for nearly a century. During his father's generation, the industry started to crumble, and by the time Williams arrived, he knew his future lay elsewhere.

But his father continued in the trade, his work taking him into the forests of Haida Gwaii. There, Williams follows him into a season at Collison Point, where the loggers are increasingly unwelcome visitors to the ancient forests.

The Last Logging Show captures the spectacular setting of Haida Gwaii and the people who call it home. It unravels the lives and dreams of those who log the forests for a living, who have coexisted with the Haida for generations—but while one way of life is in the twilight of existence, the other is being reborn. Thoughtful and compelling, this is a story of connection, community, and the force of fundamental change.

AARON WILLIAMS' first book, Chasing Smoke (2017), was based on his experience fighting forest fires in British Columbia, Alberta, Ontario, Quebec and Idaho. His writing has been published in newspapers such as The Globe and Mail, the Halifax Chronicle Herald and the Vancouver Observer. He has a MFA in creative non-fiction writing from King's College. He lives in Halifax, NS, with his family.

The Road to Appledore

Or How I Went Back to the Land Without Ever Having Lived There in the First Place

. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . TOM WAYMAN

Acclaimed author Tom Wayman's account of his shift from urban to rural.

THE RECENT PANDEMIC ACCELERATED an existing trend among urban Canadians to move to the country. Yet to quote from a 2022 Globe and Mail article, "People from cities don't always realize what they're getting into."

For anyone setting out in that direction, or dreaming of doing so, Tom Wayman's The Road to Appledore: Or How How I Went Back to the Land Without Ever Having Lived There in the First Place is rewarding reading. The book follows Wayman from Vancouver to southeastern BC's Slocan Valley, deep in the Selkirk Mountains, and presents with his characteristic humour and philosophical insight his ensuing major shifts of perspective and knowledge. Mishaps, misadventures and moments of delight and wonder abound in Wayman's prose reflections on his decades of living immersed in nature and the contemporary rural—from having to deal with a bear cub in his kitchen, to engaging in a vigilante action to protect a community water system, to the quiet satisfaction of growing his own food and flowers.

Wayman depicts the rural southwest of Canada in intimate detail, transporting readers alongside him.

TOM WAYMAN's prolific literary career includes writing more than twenty poetry collections, three collections of critical and cultural essays, three books of short fiction and a novel, as well as editing six poetry anthologies. He received British Columbia's 2022 George Woodcock Award for Lifetime Achievement in the literary arts. In 2015, he was named a Vancouver Literary Landmark, with a plaque on the city's Commercial Drive commemorating his championing of people writing for themselves about their daily employment. His own work life involved a range of blue- and white-collar jobs across North America, including teaching in both alternative and mainstream post-secondary institutions. He won the Western Canada Jewish Book Awards prize for fiction in 2016 (for the short story collection, The Shadows We Mistake for Love) and for poetry in 2023 (for Watching a Man Break a Dog's Back: Poems for a Dark Time). Wayman lives in Winlaw, BC, and his website is www.tomwayman.com.

Tales from a Sointula Troller

JON TAYLOR

Longtime fisherman and Sointula resident Jon Taylor dishes up hilarious yarns from his life off northern Vancouver Island.

CAPTURING THE "ROUGH BUT reasonable" freedom of Malcolm Island, situated off the northeast shore of Vancouver Island, Jon Taylor recounts the bizarre but enticing lifestyle of a fisherman and his remote community—"haywire tightwads" for skippers, rotten fish in the hold that become "three thousand humpies in a warm, pink soup," and the kind of integrity you don't often see.

Jon Taylor's family history on Malcolm Island extends back to 1917, when Taylor's Finnish grandparents planned to move to the community of Sointula, to live among fellow expats who shared a language and a dream. However, Taylor recounts, upon seeing the island they promptly changed their minds and moved to Cuba. Taylor himself moved to Malcolm Island in 1976 and became a steadfast resident, embracing the fishboat life, for better or worse, aboard seiners, gillnetters and his own troller. Taylor captures a classic but now-disappearing way of life in its heyday with his vibrant and amusing vignettes.

JON TAYLOR is a retired fisherman and boat builder who has lived outside Sointula, BC, on Malcolm Island, for many decades. He has been a lifelong writer of poetry, memoir, essays and fiction, and is also an avid musician.

Past the End of the Road

Port Hardy in the Mid Century

MICHEL DROUIN

Past the End of the Road recounts a free-range adolescence in mid-century Port Hardy on northern Vancouver Island, at a time when, with no roads south, the town was only connected to the rest of the island by air and sea and the Union steamship was the main mode of travel to and from the sleepy logging village.

MICHEL DROUIN'S FRANK AND humorous memoir recounts the freedom of his childhood in midcentury Port Hardy. When he was twelve, Drouin and his friend rowed a small boat from town ten kilometres across the Goletas Channel for a day trip to the Gordon Group of islands, without even bringing water to drink, as neither he or his friend owned a canteen and "plastic water bottles hadn't been invented yet."

Drouin's adolescence encompassed hunting, fishing, firewood cutting, and more activities that although common at the time are probably foreign to most Canadian children. Although he ultimately prospered, the wildness of Drouin's youth led to some close calls, such as when the young man accidentally lit himself on fire and he was only able to extinguish himself by running to the beach—"fortunately, the tide was in"—and flinging himself into the ocean.

MICHEL DROUIN's writing career began in high school, when he was hired as a high school correspondent by the North Island Gazette. After graduation, Drouin worked in the forestry and fishing industries, until he was hired as an assistant editor of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union newspaper, The Fisherman, in 1990. Drouin lives in Vancouver, BC.

Standing at the Back Door of Happiness

And How I Unlocked It

DAVID ROCHE

Popular motivational speaker and entertainer David Roche's latest essay collection explores the beauty found in unusual places with elegant humour and compassion.

DAVID ROCHE WAS BORN with vascular malformation of the face, which he sees as an "incredible gift" that has forced him to look inside for beauty and self-worth. It has also helped him to see the beauty in others, despite their flaws, allowing him to live in a world of beautiful people. With a refreshingly good-natured outlook, Roche muses on disability, activism, religion and family.

Roche tells the personal story of his journey towards finding happiness, which culminated in his receiving the Order of Canada. Germinating in his "seriously Catholic" childhood and teenage years spent studying in a seminary to be a priest, Roche grew up adhering to doctrine, which paved the way for a "fairly seamless transition" into twelve years of devotion to the Democratic Workers Party.

Roche's life came to a turning point when he realized that, although he had been devoted to changing the world, he didn't know his own soul. Eventually freed by the dissolution of the Democratic Workers Party, Roche turned towards a more meaningful way of life, embracing acceptance and love.

DAVID ROCHE is a popular motivational speaker and performer, and he has taken his one-man show, The Church of 80% Sincerity, on tour across the world, performing from Sydney to Moscow, London to Los Angeles, and even at the White House. He has also had several roles in films and documentaries. A recent recipient of the Order of Canada, Roche is also a volunteer for the Sunshine Coast Hospice in British Columbia. With his partner, Marlena, he leads storytelling and writing workshops, inspiring others to voice their own stories. Roche lives in Roberts Creek, BC. His website is www.davidroche.com.

Ocean Drive

A Novel

. . . . . . . . . . . . . . . SAM WIEBE

A paroled killer and a small-town cop find themselves on a collision course when the murder-by-arson of a college student sparks off gang violence along the forty-ninth parallel.

HIS FIRST DAY OUT of prison, paroled killer Cameron Shaw meets with a mysterious lawyer who offers him a small fortune to infiltrate the League of Nations crime syndicate. Shaw turns her down, intending to go straight. But with no job, no family and no prospects, he's soon compelled to take her offer.

In the small Pacific Northwest town of Crescent Beach, Washington, a body is pulled from a burning house. Police Chief Meghan Quick identifies the victim as grad student Alexa Reed. Alexa's behaviour during her last few days strikes Quick as bizarre. Why did she remove the for-sale sign from her parents' house, and why was she trying to meet with the League of Nations?

As Quick tries to solve Alexa's homicide, Shaw moves deeper into the League's cross-border drug trade.

With the threat of a gang war looming, and long-buried secrets coming to light, Quick must find Alexa's killer, while rescuing Shaw from the brutal gang violence that threatens the future of Crescent Beach.

The Sunshine Coast

From Gibsons to Powell River, 3rd Edition

..... HOWARD WHITE, PHOTOGRAPHS BY DEAN VAN'T SCHIP

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S SUNSHINE COAST is a sublimely scenic 160-kilometre stretch of waterfront between Howe Sound and Desolation Sound, reached by a 40-minute ferry ride from West Vancouver. Join Howard White, award-winning humorist and lifelong coast denizen, on a guided tour from Gibsons, where the long-running TV series The Beachcombers was filmed, to Powell River, the largest community in the region. Along the way, sojourn in Roberts Creek, whose patron saint—the irrepressible Harry Roberts—dubbed the area "Sunshine Coast." Stop over in Sechelt, named for the shíshálh Nation, to visit the tems swiya Museum and enjoy a meal at a waterfront eatery or local cidery. Follow the seriously twisty highway to Pender Harbour, where some local fishing folk still do their Saturday shopping in kicker boats. Drop anchor in Princess Louisa Inlet to marvel at its canyon-like splendour.

With paintings by local artists, poems by local poets, tall tales by local characters, miracles by shíshálh medicine men, tips on predicting the weather, a fair share of risqué gossip about historical figures, a good mix of bold opinions and hard facts and over 150 beautiful colour photographs, The Sunshine Coast is a book to be treasured, not just by residents and visitors, but by anyone with an eye for fascinating places. First published in 1996 and revised in 2016, this popular coffee table book is now updated for 2024 and beyond, reflecting the evolution of the area.

HOWARD WHITE was raised in a series of camps and settlements on the BC coast and never got over it. He is still to be found stuck barnacle-like to the shore at Pender Harbour, BC. He started Raincoast Chronicles and Harbour Publishing in the early 1970s, and has written numerous books including his most recent compilation of funny sketches outlining life on the Sunshine Coast, Here on the Coast (2021). He has been awarded the Order of BC, the Canadian Historical Association's Career Award for Regional History, the Stephen Leacock Medal for Humour, the Jim Douglas Publisher of the Year Award, a Honorary Doctorate of Laws Degree from the University of Victoria, and was made an Officer of the Order of Canada.

DEAN VAN'T SCHIP was born and raised on the Sunshine Coast and lives in Gibsons, BC. He has been photographing the natural environment for most of his life, and his appreciation for the beauty and biodiversity of this unique area comes through in his images.

Teeth

Poems

....... DALLAS HUNT

This is a book about grief, death and longing. It's about the gristle that lodges itself deep into one's gums, between incisors and canines.

TEETH DETAILS NOT ONLY the symptoms of colonization, but also the foundational and constitutive asymmetries that allow for it to proliferate and reproduce itself. Dallas Hunt grapples with the material realities and imaginaries Indigenous communities face, as well as the pockets of livability that they inhabit just to survive. Still this collection seeks joy in the everyday, in the flourishing of Indigenous Peoples in the elsewhere, in worlds to come.

Nestling into the place between love and ruin, Teeth traces the collisions of love undone and being undone by love, where "the hope is to find an ocean nested in shoulders—to reside there when the tidal waves come, and then love names the ruin."

DALLAS HUNT is Cree and a member of Wapsewsipi (Swan River First Nation) in Treaty Eight territory in northern Alberta. He has had creative works published in Prairie Fire, PRISM international and Arc Poetry. His first children's book, Awâsis and the World-famous Bannock, was published through Highwater Press in 2018, and was nominated for several awards. His first poetry collection, Creeland, published in 2022, was nominated for the George Ryga Award for Social Awareness in Literature, Gerald Lampert Memorial Award and the Indigenous Voices Award. Poems

MATT RADER

Charting the porous borderlands of the self and the social through a year of cataclysm, Matt Rader conjures a vision of the present from a deep future.

THE FOLLOW-UP TO GHOSTHAWK, Fine is set largely in the Kelowna area of the Okanagan Valley, BC, over the period of July 2021–June 2022. The poems address the extraordinary natural, historical and social events of that period including the June 2021 heat dome and the November 2021 atmospheric river, the ongoing pandemic and resulting social anomie, the public announcement of hundreds of unmarked residential school graves across the country, and the Russian invasion of Ukraine. On a personal level, the poems grapple with questions of disability, illness, trans identity, healing and what a good future might look like. Written in a speculative mood, the poems in Fine look back on the contemporary moment with its terrors and mythopoetic digital scrim from an imagined future, so that the voice itself becomes an incantation, a summoning of a world of survivance and beauty.

MATT RADER is an award-winning author of six volumes of poetry, a collection of stories and a book of nonfiction. His previous book of poems, Ghosthawk (2021), was shortlisted for the Dorothy Livesay Poetry Prize. He teaches Creative Writing at the University of British Columbia Okanagan and lives in Kelowna, BC.

Excerpts from a Burned Letter

Poems

...... JOELLE BARRON

Award-winning writer Joelle Barron looks back at history through queer eyes in their second poetry collection.

EXCERPTS FROM A BURNED Letter places the experiences of historical figures and fictional characters in modern contexts—and makes their queerness explicit. This collection highlights the circular nature of time, demonstrating how even in a post-marriage-equality world, queer experiences and queer histories still face erasure.

From the perspective of a single, modern speaker, each poem is haunted by a fictional or historical queer couple, connecting ancestors to their descendants and underlining the ancientness of being queer. The book also explores themes of religion, disability, motherhood, birth, and the experience of being a queer child. The poems zoom in and out; gross, visceral depictions of bodies and their functions stand beside poems that call out the hypocrisies of religion in both its extreme and subtle forms. These poems describe the experience of being a queer person in the present day—writing the queer history of the future.

When searching for stories of themselves in history books, queer people are often met with denial and resistance. Excerpts from a Burned Letter provides explicit acknowledgement where it didn't exist before: You were here. You live on.

JOELLE BARRON is an award-winning poet and writer living and relying on the Traditional Territories of the Anishinabewaki of Treaty 3 and the Métis people (Fort Frances, on). Their first poetry collection, Ritual Lights (icehouse poetry, 2018), was nominated for the Gerald Lampert Memorial Award. In 2019, they were a finalist for the Dayne Ogilvie Prize for Emerging LGBTQ2s+ Writers. Barron's poetry has appeared in ARC Poetry Magazine, CV2, EVENT Magazine, The New Quarterly, and many other Canadian literary publications. They live with their daughter.

The Wild Horses of the Chilcotin

Their History and Future

WAYNE MCCRORY

THE CHILCOTIN'S WILD horses are romantic and beautiful, but they are also controversial: they are seen by government policy as intruders competing for range land with native species and domestic cattle. In this compelling book, wildlife biologist Wayne McCrory draws upon two decades of research to make a case for considering these wonderful creatures, called qiyus in traditional Tŝilhqot'in culture, a resilient part of the area's balanced prey-predator ecosystem. McCrory also chronicles the Chilcotin wild horses' genetic history and significance to the Tŝilhqot'in.

The Curious Passage of Richard Blanshard

First Governor of Vancouver Island

BARRY GOUGH

IN MARCH 1850, after seven weary weeks out of sight of land, a well-dressed Londoner, a bachelor aged thirty-two, stood at the ship's rail. All that Richard Blanshard could make out to port was a forested, rock-clad island rising to considerable height. Vancouver's Island they called it in those far-off days. Richard Blanshard was governor of the young colony for three short, unhappy years only one and a half of which were spent in the colony itself. From the very beginning he was at odds with the vastly influential Hudson's Bay Company, run by its Chief Factor James Douglas. While Douglas is remembered as a founding father of BC, Richard Blanshard is now largely forgotten. However, his failures highlight the supreme influence of commerce, the disparity between expectations and reality, and the bewildering collision of European and Pacific Northwest culture.

The Princess Maquinna

IAN KENNEDY

PRINCESS MAQUINNA TRANSPORTED Indigenous people, settlers, missionaries, loggers, cannery workers, prospectors and travellers of all kinds up and down Vancouver Island's rugged and dangerous west coast, stopping at up to forty ports of call on her seven-day run. The Princess Maquinna served as the lifeline for all those who lived on the west coast of Vancouver Island before it became accessible by roads. Kennedy recounts battles through eighty-knot gales along the exposed coastline sailors called "The Graveyard of the Pacific," and the bigotry that forced Indigenous and Chinese passengers to remain on the foredeck of the ship while other passengers sheltered inside. He brings the history of this beloved ship to life, recalling a time when this remote part of British Columbia was alive with mines, canneries and now-forgotten settlements.

The Days of Augusta

MARY AUGUSTA TAPPAGE EVANS, EDITED BY JEAN E. SPEARE, WITH PHOTOGRAPHS BY ROBERT KEZIERE

ACCOMPANIED BY ROBERT Keziere's intimate photographs, Augusta's rhythmic prose reads like poetry. She depicts with strength and eloquence her own story—her days at the Mission School, making baskets and catching salmon, the pain of giving birth and the death of a son—as well as the legends and stories of events told to her—a stagecoach robbery, a woman who was the prisoner of a bear. First printed in 1973, Augusta's story continues to be a fascinating glimpse into the past, with throughlines to the present.

Commune

A Novel

DES KENNEDY

AGAINST ALL ODDS, the dream endures for half a century through fierce internecine squabbling, occasional community uproar, births and deaths, disasters in animal husbandry, the War in the Woods, RCMP raids and the blandishments of oily developers. But throughout it all what abides is the land itself, its gifts and spirits and seasonal graces. A story within a story, the tale is told by the commune's sole remaining occupant to an enigmatic stranger. Herself a recent urban exile exploring the ways of rural living, she succeeds in coaxing him through his rememberings away from grief into renewed life. Des Kennedy brings his signature humour and intimate knowledge of gardens and woodlands to this engaging novel. Throughout Commune, Kennedy poses the big questions—how do we best live our lives? Build community? Create a new paradigm for raising kids, growing food and honouring the genius of our place?

The White Light of Tomorrow

RUSSELL THORNTON

WITH INTENSE LYRICISM, Thornton records his imaginative movement between the element of water, waking to "the aloneness of water," and the phenomenon of light, comprehending "light" as "fate" and "love" as "memory of light." In the process, Thornton highlights how hard lives can manifest beauty and affirmation. A mother transcends degrading circumstances through laughter. A long-lost father's drafting set case is a "coffin," its tools a "skeleton;" his "ashes are buried" in the poet's "arm." Thornton's rainy locale lifts onto the mythical level, water "wrapping around" him, "holding" him "complete / as within womb water about to break." A description of an ancient BC site is a rapt engagement with Indigenous petroglyphs. An exploration of a Song of Songs passage details "light ... one with turns of the yarn" of a shawl, "a touch within a touch." Passionate and moving, this collection marks a fine advance in Thornton's expanding poetic output.

Tofino and Clayoquot Sound

A History

MARGARET HORSFIELD AND IAN KENNEDY

CLAYOQUOT SOUND IS a place of extraordinary raw beauty with a fascinating past. Tofino and Clayoquot Sound starts with geological formation and tours through the history of the Hesquiaht, Ahousaht, Tla-o-qui-aht and other nations that inhabited the area; the arrival of Spanish, British and American traders and their greed for sea otter pelts; the establishment of reserve lands and two residential schools; the coming of World War II and the installation of an Air Force base near Tofino; the arrival of roads bringing tourism, the counter-culture of the 1960s, Pacific Rim National Park and surfing. The book also addresses logging, going into detail about the War in the Woods, the largest mass arrest in Canadian history. Horsfield and Kennedy highlight notable figures of past and present: merchants, missionaries, settlers, Japanese fishermen, hippies, whale-watchers, and Indigenous leaders.

Crushed Wild Mint

JESS HOUSTY

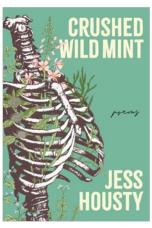

CRUSHED WILD MINT is a collection of poems embodying land love and ancestral wisdom, deeply rooted to the poet's motherland and their experience as a parent, herbalist and careful observer of the patterns and power of their territory. Jess Housty grapples with the natural and the supernatural, transformation and the hard work of living that our bodies are doing—held by mountains, by oceans, by ancestors and by the grief and love that come with communing. Housty's poems are textural—blossoms, feathers, stubborn blots of snow—and reading them is a sensory offering that invites the reader's whole body to be transported in the experience. Their writing converses with mountains, animals and all our kin beyond the human realm as they sit beside their ancestors' bones and move throughout the geography of their homeland. Housty's exploration of history and futurity, ceremony and sexuality, grieving and thriving invites us to look both inward and outward to redefine our sense of community.

Short Stories

TIM BLACKETT

FROM HIS CAR, a lonely man watches strangers going about their lives in the comfort of their own homes; when caught, he wrecks his car in an attempt to escape. A man hears a car wreck outside his home and has a wild night of romance with a strange woman he meets at the scene. A mother confronted with her estranged son's death by car wreck organizes a memorial service for a list of attendees she has never met. This collection of sixteen connected short stories investigates the ways we humans so often feel alone, yet cannot avoid having our lives be contingent upon others—often in ways we can neither see nor understand. Blackett's characters long for meaningful connection and struggle to find it, often unaware of the connections right in front of them. The stories stand on their own, but they are strengthened by the (sometimes secret) connections they hold.

Alternator

Poems

CHRIS BANKS

ALTERNATOR BY CHRIS Banks is a masterful poetry collection that blends catastrophe and consciousness, modern living and past transgressions, off-kilter imagery and the "hidden room" of the unsayable to construct a polyphonic triumph. In the title poem, Banks says, after decades, all he wants to do is "thread fire through the eye of [his] imagination," and the product of his labour are these new poems born of whole cloth: surrealist meditations, modern ghazals and powerful narrative sonnets that are both alive and burning.

Dream House

A Poem

CATHY STONEHOUSE

A LONG POEM in six sections, Dream House takes its cue from Gaston Bachelard's Poetics of Space in its investigation of female embodiment by calling up such feral, liminal spaces as the pregnant body, the aging mind, snail shells, broom closets, low-ceilinged pubs and abandoned pizza boxes. Part Tardis, part townhouse, part Howl's moving castle, this wry, surreal and many-peopled narrative interrogates what metaphor might hold of history, both personal and social, in the wake of a mother's passing. Its migrant speaker trawls through hedgerows and recipe books to unearth stained birdsong and undead civil wars, intent on tracing a matrilineal path across four generations while traversing the haunted margins between existence and belonging.
