Details

Target Description	Cation transport regulator-like protein 1, Glutathione-Specific Gamma-Glutamylcyclotransferase 1 or Botch1 is encoded by the gene CHAC1. Chac1 is a member of the gamma-glutamylcyclotransferase family. It is an enzyme that acts to catalyze the cleavage of glutathione into 5-oxo-L-proline and a Cys-Gly dipeptide. Chac1 is involved in neuronal differentiation by deglycation of the Notch receptor, which prevents receptor maturation and inhibits Notch signaling. CHAC1 is expressed in tissues including brain (forebrain and anterior spinal cord), and heart. Diseases associated with CHAC1 include Ovarian Embryonal Carcinoma and Ovarian Cancer.
Specificity	No cross-reactivity against Botch2/Chac2
Purification Method	Produced by in vitro bioreactor culture of hybridoma line followed by Protein A affinity chromatography and conjugation of purified mAb. Purified mAbs are >90% specific antibody.
Quality Control Tests	Each new lot of antibody is quality control tested on cells overexpressing target protein and confirmed to give the expected staining pattern.
