Details

Target Description	Glutamate receptor NMDA2A or GluN2A/NR2A glutamate receptor is a member of the glutamate-gated ion channel family. NR2A is a subunit of the ligand-gated ion channel with high calcium permeability and voltage-dependent sensitivity to magnesium. NR2A is expressed throughout the brain, including striatum, forbrain, cerebellum (at protein level) brain cortex, piriform cortex, hippocampus, caudate-putamen, dentate gyrus and granule cell layer. It is found at the postsynaptic cell membrane, dendritic spine, synapse, and cytoplasmic vesicle membrane. A variety of neurological diseases, including epilepsy, intellectual disability, autism spectrum disorders, developmental delay, and schizophrenia are associated with mutations in the NR2A gene.
Specificity	Does not cross-react with GluN2B/NR2B
Purification Method	Produced by in vitro bioreactor culture of hybridoma line followed by Protein A affinity chromatography and conjugation of purified mAb. Purified mAbs are >90% specific antibody.
Quality Control Tests	Each new lot of antibody is quality control tested by western blot on rat whole brain lysate and confirmed to stain the expected molecular weight band.
