How do you find the performance?
The machine has been very reliable, and from industry experience, our nursing team has found the Lyla model to be superior to other models in terms of usability and reliability.

How do you find the ease of use?
The Lyla is excellent in general practice because it's non-invasive with both its design and noise performance when in use. The nursing team are quickly trained on the device and can operate it autonomously almost immediately.

Feedback on the overall quality of the unit?
It's clear the unit is high quality from its first appearance, and it's justified in its performance.

Using the autoclave feels like a premium product, and it delivers a premium service and results to our practice. Our clinical team have all noted that it's an easier, tidier and more efficient machine than former alternatives.
