Dermastir Luxury Ampoules Coenzyme Q10

Coenzyme Q10 (also known as ubiquinone, ubidecarenone) is a benzoquinone, where Q is referred to the chemical group quinone, and 10 is referred to the chemical isoprenic subunits. In addition to being a co-factor in the mitochondrial electron transport chain, Coenzyme Q10 in its reduced form (ubiquinol or CoQ10), acts as an important antioxidant in mitochondria and lipid membranes, where it protects the body's cells in their battle against the destructive effects of free radicals. The Coenzyme Q10 contained in Dermastir Ampoules Coenzyme Q10 combats the signs of photo-aging and protects the skin from oxidative stress and free radicals, contributing to the improvement of the overall skin aspect.

Coenzyme Q10

improves the release of oxygen in the cells and provides anti-oxidant, anti-wrinkle and skin repairing action.

Crucial for cellular energy production and helps to replenish CoQ10 levels in human skin, which diminish with age and under the influence of external factors.

Topical Q10 treatments are beneficial in terms of the enhancement of skin metabolism, protective barrier and TEWL reduction.
